COUNTRY NEIGHBORS

"A Farmers' Dinner", said Newbold Ely, "is a buffet affair at which a most indifferent meal is supposed to make the embarrassed and uncomfortable guests feel entirely all right about such items as broken fences, lost stock, trampled wheat and murdered poultry". All of us who ride across country, whether we hunt or hack quietly through fields and gates, are required to be on the best of terms with those whose land we cross. Perhaps in England there was once a time when the condescension of the hunting squirearchy in offering them food, drink and conversation was so flattering to farmers that they felt fully recompensed for past injuries. Be that as it may, good land-owner relations in this country to-day require a much more fundamental approach.

First of all remember that most of those who make their living from the soil know far more about the art of being a good neighbor than those who just live in the country and get their livelihood from other sources—this means you. They know that some day their stock will get over on your land; that some day they will need your help to harvest crops or to put out a fire or to support the church; and that in a rural community one is necessarily limited to a relatively few neighbors and had better make the most of them. In consequence they want to be your good neighbor. If what you want is to ride over their land, they are disposed to welcome you PROVIDED you will be a good neighbor yourself.

What constitutes a good country neighbor. First of all a countryman doesn't expect or want you to give him anything except your friendship and respect. He wants you and your wife to take the trouble to come over and visit with him and his wife and to treat them as friends wherever you meet them. He wants you to have some understanding of his problems and to have you tell him about your own. He wants you to take part in neighborhood enterprises, such as the Church, the Grange, the Fire Company, etc.—not necessarily a major part, but a fair share. He wants you to give him a hand, if you can, when he gets behind in his work. If he or his boy want to shoot a few rabbits he expects you to welcome him on your land. All the things he expects you to do for him and for the neighborhood he will in turn do for you—and in full measure.

Once you have established yourself as a good neighbor—and it will take a while since country folk move at a more relaxed pace than city folk—permission to ride across your neighbors' land and to panel their fences will follow almost as a matter of course. Once granted it is up to you to see that this permission is not abused. Be sure you put up the kind of panels the owner wants and in places that are acceptable to him as well as to yourself. Try to avoid doing any damage; if you do, make sure that it is repaired, promptly. If you want to do something more, if you want to offer a dinner or a party, make sure the above steps precede it. And don't use the word "Farmer" when you give it a name, so as to put the people who give the party in a different class from those invited—"Land-owners" Dinner is a better name.

Finally don't think that all these things are only required of the Master, the Hunt Secretary or the President of the Bridle Trails Association. For every cross country rider being a good neighbor is just as important and just as constant an occupation as looking after our horses.

Polo In Africa

Dear Sir:

Very many thanks for your kind gesture in sending a copy of your most interesting Annual Polo Issue.

We, in the Central African Federation, are keen on Polo and by dint of the press, radio, etc. have managed to interest a large body of public who attend our major Tournaments. Last season we had the pleasure of a visit by the Argentine team and were rewarded with gates of 3000. This is quite a lot of people out here where the total white population is in the region of two hundred thousand. This association has 150 registered players for polo and our claim is that we play more polo pro rata of the European population than anywhere else in the world. The Salisbury Polo ground is one of the finest in Africa, being fast and true. Irrigation installed some four years ago and this has truly been worth while in our very dry climate.

One of our main draw-backs is distance for visiting teams to come here. But our good neighbors in the Union, the South African Polo Association, usually manage to send at least one strong team a year to compete. This means a round trip of about 2000 miles for players and ponies so you can understand how grateful we are.

Best wishes to yourself and The Chronicle from this Association,

Yours sincerely,

John Price, Hon. Sec.

Salisbury, So. Rhodesia

REVIEW OF THE WEEK

Misty Morn Adds The Monmouth Oaks To The Providence And Molly Pitcher Handicaps Victories

Raleigh Burroughs

If, on the field of glory, the gridiron warriors of Southern Cal soundly trounced the moleskin heroes of U of Kentucky, there would be no howl for a rematch, especially if the losers' only excuse was that they couldn't make touchdowns like the other fellows.

If, in subsequent tests, the USC lads overwhelmed all opponents, even some with salaried employees, it would not be deemed necessary to hold a poll to decide which club would win in the event that Kentucky and Southern Cal should respond to whatever public demand there was for a re-match.

If somebody should sponsor such a poll the result would be about 988 to 12 in favor of the team that won in first place. The 12 would be Kentucky newspapermen who would vote that way in preference to being run out of town.

The person who dreamed up the poll, incidentally, would be considered a little balm, or hard put for something to write about, and members of the Football Writers' Association would be quick to say so.

In racing — the sport with most complete statistics — standards of appraisal seem to be different. It is very difficult for a horse to get to be champion just by beating all the other horses.

Recently, about 300 experts (well, some of 'em are) voted in a poll to decide which horse will win when Nashua and Swaps meet at Washington Park, on August 31.

With nothing to go on but past performances, it would seem all the votes would have been for Swaps, for "Morning Telegraph" records show that he took all Nashua had to offer and then went away.

The meeting occurred on May 7, at Louisville, Ky., and was given some prominence in the press, so even the busiest experts must have heard about it. But two-fifths of them think Nashua is the better horse. At least, that's the way they voted.

It is nearly impossible for an expert to be coldly impartial in such cases. Sentiment will befog his reason and color his decisions, and he may vote for the horse he hopes will win instead of the one he thinks will win.

To keep such polls honest in the future, why not require each voter to post $1,000 in cash to be held in escrow until the day of the race and then placed for him on the horse for which he voted?

There would be fewer voters, but they'd be serious.

Monmouth Park

The Monmouth Oaks was first run in 1871 at the old Monmouth track so the new course has the use of its tradition. This with $50,000-added makes quite a race.

Miss Woodford, Firenzi and Wanda are names that glitter in the yellowed records of the event.

First Flight, Grecian Queen and Evening Out are among the feminine stars that have been prize winners since the new Monmouth came into existence.

List with these the name of Misty Morn, victress this year (August 6), and give Blue Sparkler an award for valor—she made it a great contest, and lost only by a neck.

Manotick was third, seven lengths back of the leaders and three-quarters ahead of Hen Party, which finished fourth.

From the start, the race was between Woodland Farm's Blue Sparkler and Misty Morn (owned by Wheatley Stable). The former broke swiftly and rushed out to a long lead; she was four lengths ahead after half a mile and there were those who thought she might steal it.

Misty Morn showed — ridden by Eddie Arcaro — her class with a tremendous surge of power that put her on top with three-eighths to go in the 1½-mile race. She headed Blue Sparkler at that point, but after another quarter of a mile was still only a head in front. Blue Sparkler fought it out right down to the wire.

The first three to finish carried scale weight of 121 pounds.

Misty Morn was the favorite at 11 to 10. Arcaro rode her.

The daughter of *Princequillo — Grey Flight, by *Mahmoud, was hanging up the sixth win of her three-year-old season. She has been second 3 times. With the $43,700 from the Oaks, she has 1955 earnings of $107,250. Her stakes wins have been in the Providence and Molly Pitcher Handicaps, besides the Monmouth Oaks.

As a juvenile, she earned $8,800, as a consequence of winning 2, running second in 2 and third in 5 of her 15 starts.

Wheatley Stable (Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps) bred her, and Jim Fitzsimmons trains.

R. O. J. Streuber's Revolt registered in the Long Branch Handicap, on August 3, winning by three-quarters of a length over Affrighted, with I Geegee in third place and the favored Skipper Bill fourth.

The winner (with a $10.80 mutuel payoff) tracked in behind I Geegee for the first three-quarters of a mile, then took the lead and was able to hold off Affrighted in the drive to the wire.

The Long Branch is at a distance of 1½ miles.

Revolt, a four-year-old gelding by Revoked, from the *Pharamond II mare, Pet, earned $12,800 by his neat score. His money total for the year stands at $17,600. He has 2 wins and a second in 8 tries.

Last year, he brought in $22,350 in 18 starts. He had 2 wins, 1 second and 4 thirds.

W. G. Christmas trains for Mr. Streuber. Hank Moreno had the mount in the Long Branch.

Duval Headley bred Revolt.

The 28th Whitney brought out three Thoroughbreds, but brought in nothing for the track. There was no betting. Under the conditions of the race, Brookmeade's First Aid and Greentree's Diving Board got in with 113 pounds, while Foxcatcher's Chevation was required to carry 120.

All the way, the mile-and-one-eighth event was between the two that lugged 113.

Diving Board cut out the pace for about seven-eighths of a mile, then First Aid (Woodhouse up) ranged up and the battle was on. It lasted right down to the final jump, with the Brookmeade gelding winning by a neck, while the sporting public applauded politely.

Mrs. Isabel Dodge-Sloane's establishment received $18,100, which makes $42,850 First Aid has brought in this year. The five-year-old son of *Bernborough (from Humane, by Broadside), has won 2, been second in 1 and third in 2 of his 7 races.

He won the Merchants' & Citizens' Handicap a week before the Whitney. In 1954, he earned $53,950. His stakes wins were in the Southern Maryland and Omnibus Handicaps.

Preston Burch trains for Brookmeade. L. B. Combs bred First Aid.

The six-furlong United States Hotel Stakes was the co-feature with the Whitney on August 6. On this one they allowed betting; the favored entry won and the cheering was genuine.

C. V. Whitney's team of two-year-olds, Career Boy and Head Man drew the most attention from those who were inclined to wager, and the Boy beat the Man. Canadian Champ split the pair at the finish.

Canadian Champ put away Migrator to get the lead after about three furlongs of racing, and hit the eighth pole two lengths before Head Man. Career Boy, after Woodhouse extricated him from trouble, came fast through the final furlong and rushed past Canadian Champ to win by half a length. Head Man missed second money by a head. Nan's Mink was fourth.

Career Boy, by Phalanx (from Swanky, by *Mahmoud) earned $17,200 to bring his total to $20,275. He has raced 7 times, shows 2 wins and 1 third.

Fulton With A Perfect Performance Under Jockey "Dooley" Adams Wins The Shillelah At Saratoga

Spectator

Here, as in many places through out the Nation, high temperatures and little rainfall have caused many problems, and steeplechase-wise, it has been a factor during the first week of the meeting. Two steeplechases failed to fill during the week, with hurdle races being run instead, and the only race over the big jumps during the week was The Shillelah on Thursday, August 4th, which saw but six go postward.

The Sanford Stud Farm entry of Fulton and Oneida were heavily favored in the betting, and the former justified this confidence by coasting under the wire with six and a half lengths to spare in track record time. Montpelier's Mighty Mo was closest, with Billing drop back, while Albert Foot on Mighty Mo made a sharp move which took him by Oneida and Fulton, and into the lead, but at the next fence, Mighty Mo made a serious bobble which but for superior horsemanship would have thrown Foot. However, the powerful little French rider stayed on although he slammed his face on Mighty Mo's head. While this was happening, Adams on Fulton moved by and into the lead. Several lengths back, Rythminhim, just starting to move, bobbled and unseated Smithwick. From that point on, there wasn't much to the race, as Fulton jumped and ran well and had speed in reserve at the wire. Surprisingly enough, Mighty Mo, which has been idle since

Costly Error—John M. Schiff's "Carfar" (#5) bobbles the final hurdle to permit Col. L. H. Nelles' Dear Brutus (#6) to come on and gain a nose decision in the $15,000 Midsummer Hurdle Handicap at Monmouth Park. Flint Schulhofer was on the victim of ill racing luck, while Scott Riles handled the winner. C. T. Chenery's Permian (#2) faltered and finished 4th.

Bear a length and a half away and some dozen lengths in front of Oneida. It was way back to "Another Hyacinth, which completed the field after his stablemate, Rythminhim lost Paddy Smithwick at the tenth jump.

When the field broke from the tape, "Another Hyacinth was first to show the way, with Oneida right at his heels. For about a turn of the field these two alternated in setting or pressing the pace, while Adams on Fulton kept his mount in third place four or five lengths off the leaders. Mighty Mo, Billing Bear and Rythminhim followed in that order some lengths back of Fulton, but as the field started to go by the stands the second time, there was some closing up, so that a scarce half a dozen lengths separated the field of six. Up to this point, all six had jumped moderately well, despite the hard going, but at the water jump directly in front of the stands, the first of several costly errors took place. "Another Hyacinth bobbled on landing, and Mighty Mo got in deep. At the next jump, Oneida, which was making his first start over the bigger fences, got in too close and lost ground. Rounding the turn and into the backstretch, "Another Hyacinth started to last fall, and even after his bobbles in this race, came on again at the end and in a game effort bested Billing Bear from the final jump to the wire. The latter ran a good race in this company, and is a much improved horse this season.

Fulton's share of the $8,600 purse was $5,850, and this was his third stakes victory of the season, his previous wins including the Hitchcock over brush and the Forget over hurdles, both at Aqueduct. Carrying 144 pounds, he jumped and ran smoothly all the way, in 4:07½, ¾ of a second better than the 1950 record set by Pontius Pilate, and there is no question that Adams had the best ride of the field. This observer did not notice a single fault by Fulton in his thirteen jumps.

The following day, the third and final leg of the National Maiden Stakes came up for decision, and Prince Regent, winner of the previous two, essayed Neji's feat last year, in sweeping the three, but missed by three lengths, coming off second best to Mrs. L. C. Ledyard's Actinic. Phelps on Actinic had the inside post position, broke well from the starting point in this mile and three-quarter test, which is just at the beginning of the clubhouse turn. However, Tippy Do on the outside came up fast and went to the top, but this was short lived as he pecked at the first hedge and dropped back. Meanwhile Anacostia forged to the front by a narrow margin and held that position for a full turn of the field, with Bennet, Tippy Do, Actinic, Prince Regent and Pine Shot a length or two away in that order. Running in front under restraint Anacostia set a moderate pace, and still led as the field entered the backstretch the second time, but at the sixth hurdle, this three-year-old, which races in the name of Mrs. Ogden Phipps, but which is held in partnership by her and Wm. Woodward, Jr., took off with a long one, and what was to prove his final leap. Meeting the hurdle too soon, he fell with Dooley Adams, sending Dooley clear, but breaking his own leg. When this occurred, Earl Phelps on Actinic moved into command and was never in serious danger afterwards, winning by three lengths. Prince Regent, under 162 pounds; which included a five pound apprentice allowance for Jimmy Hobales, his rider, ran and jumped well most of the way under his burden, but was not up to overtaking Actinic in the stretch run. Three parts of a length separated Pine Shot and Bennet which finished third and fourth in that order, with Tippy Do a distant last.

The Stewards delayed the official result in the National Maiden while they looked at the film where it showed the clubhouse turn the second time. At this point, Anacostia was in front with Actinic laying second on the hedge behind him, and Bennet third, out a little from Actinic. Smithwick on Tippy Do was a close fourth at this point just slightly behind Actinic and Bennet. It appeared that Albert Foot on Bennet came in and caused Smithwick to take up on Tippy Do, but the Stewards permitted the result to stand.

Actinic is a Montpelier-bred, a foal of 1951 by Battleship or Heliadourus from Sun Flo. This was the sixth start, and second win of the season, but he impresses as a better horse than his record thus far. Earlier in the season he suffered from bucked shins, and now appears to be a very promising fencer.

The winner's share of the purse, like the other two divisions, was $7,775. Actinic's time for the mile and three-quarter hurdle distance was 3:29½, more than 5 seconds off the mark, but a modest pace prevailed throughout the race.

Donald Barrows of Philadelphia purchased "Irish Double from Arthur Pew, Jr., shortly after the Rose Tree meeting this spring, and while he has been in the money since then, his sixth start under Barrows' colors proved to be the winning one. This was on opening day, when this nine-year-old Irish bred came down in front in a mile and a half hurdle claimer designed for non-winners of $1,000. Ridden by Paddy Smithwick, "Irish Double took command on the backstretch and then held his opposition safe to score by almost five lengths. In the later stages of the race, Morpheus was the stoutest contention, and was easily the best of the others. It was ten lengths back to Avindo, which was ridden by Charlie Harr and was well out of it until rounding the far turn. From there to the wire, he could a lot of ground but the move was a late one.

Morris Dixon, Jr., saddled the first of his winners during the week, when

Mr. Whitney bred him. S. E. Veitch trains for the barn.

Saratoga opened its home meeting on August 1 with the Flash Stakes, at 5½ furlongs. The event went to Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged under Eddie Arcaro. Head Man, Tulchan and Migrator followed the winner home in that order. Only four went.

Reneged, coming off a victory in the Troy, was made the 4-to-5 favorite.

The $9,950 he earned, gives him a total of $25,450. He has 3 wins and 2 seconds in 7 starts.

Woodley Lane (Wilson, Maupin and Straus) bought Reneged for $13,700 at Keeneland last season. The two-year-old colt is by Revoked — White Samite, by Gallant Fox.

H. Pardue trains him.

John A. Bell, Jr. bred Reneged.

Greentree Stable's Gold Box handled his elders very nicely in the seven-furlong American Legion Handicap on August 3. The three-year-old colt was in a contending position all the way, and won by two lengths from the late-closing Fife and Drum. The leader's margin might have been greater had he not gone off on a tangent near the eighth pole. Luckily he didn't bother any other horse.

Red Hannigan, the public choice, missed second place by a head and held third by half a length over Best Auber.

Gold Box brought in $7,975 to put his 1955 earnings at $32,225. He has 2 wins a second and a third in 8 starts.

By *Heliopolis — Pandora, by Unbreakable, he was bred by Mrs. W. Kenney.

John M. Gaver is the Greentree trainer, and seems, if you hadn't noticed it, to have the knack of putting over three-year-olds against older ones in handicaps. Look it up some time.

Washington Park

The track was muddy for the Sheridan Handicap (August 6) and Mrs. Harvey C. Fruehauf's Parador suddenly discovered he likes that kind of footing and won by six lengths. Two races earlier, before he learned about his aptitude, he finished tenth among a not-so-stellar field in gooeey going.

Dogoon, carrying 126 pounds and giving 16 to the winner was second in the Sheridan. He beat New Trend a length. Speed Rouser, the favorite at 3 to 2, was fourth in the one-mile test.

Parador returned $14.60 on a $2 investment.

The three-year-old son of Errard — No Ma'am, by Menow was making his third 1955 start. He was third last time out. Collecting $16,025 in the Sheridan, he has $16,550 for the year.

In '54, Parador raced 12 times, won 2 races, was second in 1 and third in 3, earning $25,070.

Mr. H. C. Fruehauf bred him.

A. Lamoureux trains Parador. Hartack had the ride in the Sheridan.

It looked like old times at Chicago on August 1 when Calumet runners finished one-two in the Clang Handicap. Duke's Lea won the seven furlong test, beating Miz Clementine by 2½ lengths. Jet Action, the horse which one lady claims would be as good as Swaps if he had feet, was third, a nose farther back. Smoke Screen was fourth by another nose.

Jet Action was the favorite.

The entry went off at a little better than 3 to 1.

The winner's share was $13,625. This puts Duke's Lea at $21,775 for 1955. He has 2 wins, a second and a third in 7 starts.

Last season the son of *Blenheim II—Maud Lea, by Bull Lea won $45,700. Calumet (Mrs. Gene Markey) bred him.

The dark brown colt is now four years old.

H. A. Jimmy Jones trains him.

Shoemaker collected the jockey's fee.

Mrs. J. Tomlinson's Guard Rail was home first in the Mademoiselle Stakes at Washington on August 3. The filly by *Ambiorix (from *Blenheim II's daughter, Tides) won easily by four lengths. Ferocious, Zipdedo and Supple followed the winner home for the small pieces of the purse.

Finish of The Citizens Handicap (Saratoga at Jamaica) won by Brookmeade Stable's First Aid, T. Atkinson up. High Tide Stable's Fabulist was 2nd.

The winner's share $14,750, gives Guard Rail total earnings of $46,300. She has 2 wins, 3 seconds and 2 thirds in 10 starts.

Howard Hoffman trains her. Shoemaker got another one here.

Claiborne and Nydrie bred Guard Rail in partnership.

Hollywood Park

With the Sunset Handicap having such a final sound to it, I always forget that Hollywood stays open another day for the people who won't go home until Monday. So I didn't say anything about the Los Angeles Handicap, which was run on July 25.

Well, you can quit holding your breath. Karim won it and paid $20.20.

he saddled James F. McHugh's *Bois Windsor on Tuesday. This five-year-old gelding by Windsor Slipper-Astrid Wood, was bred in Ireland by Jos. McGrath, and brought here last year by Cappy Smith. In his half a dozen starts this year under McHugh's silks, he has improved in each race, and ran well on Tuesday to score by a head in a mile and a half maiden race over hurdles. *Shiny Dime, a three-year-old English import by Rockefeller, was second, and appeared to have his head in front several strides short of the wire, after being prominent all the way, and appearing to be one of the nicer three-year-old hurdles of the season. These two staged a head and head duel from the head of the stretch to the wire, while *Coimbra, which finished third was twelve lengths back, after setting the pace under pressure of *Shiny Dime for more than a mile. The remainder of the field were never in serious contention.

On Wednesday, August 3rd, Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Antagonizer lowered his own track mark for the one mile and a half hurdle distance set in 1952 when as a five-year-old racing in the silks of Rigan McKinney, he chalked up 2:58½. In the race under review he clipped just one fifth off the mark, in a race which was a hot one all the way. At the break Marcheast went to the front despite efforts of Paddy Smithwick to hold him, while Escarp, now a twelve-year-old, but still full of run, right on his heels, then Ben Tally-Ho and Antagonizer. Midway around, Marcheast had enough of the pace and hard ground and gave way slightly, while Riles pushed Ben Tally-Ho into the lead, and approached the far turn with about three lengths over Antagonizer. Running like a scared thief around the turn and into the stretch, Ben Tally-Ho appeared the likely winner, but stride by stride Antagonizer and Adams whittled his lead. At the final hurdle it was half a length, and gaining on him in the run of the flat, Antagonizer went under the wire with just about half a length to spare. It was an exciting race and without falls, although Rebel Coat was badly cut in the running, and several horses came back on the ouchy side.

The Quiet, an allowance hurdle race on Saturday brought nine good hurdlers to the post and resulted in a good race, with Col. L. H. Nelles' Dear Brutus running back to the form he showed in winning the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap last week. Running close to the pace set by River Jordan for a turn of the field, Adams moved with Dear Brutus to take the lead going to the far turn. Phelps on River Jordan went to the whip and managed to stick close by but the result appeared inevitable. At the last hurdle, the inevitable was reversed for a second when Dear Brutus bobbed badly, but while losing ground, Dooley Adams picked him up quickly, and crossed the wire by daylight with River Jordan several lengths in front of *Camee which closed well in the last half mile. It was real tight for fourth with inches separating Good Cards and Jam in that order. Time for the race was just 3½'s off Antagonizer's time on Wednesday.

NOTES

During Saratoga's first week, F. D. "Dooley" Adams chalked up three riding wins out of six mounts, was second twice, and was a pretty lucky chap when he fell with Anacostia. Pine Shot, followed behind the field when this fall occurred, ran right over the prostrate horse and Adams.

Among the many faces seen hereabouts during the first week was Rigan McKinney, who is selling four yearlings on Monday night. He was present on Wednesday when Antagonizer ran.

Racing News

Arthur E. James

Marcel J. Racine's chestnut yearling colt by Lighthouse—Shore Leave, by Mate won the Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association of N. J.'s annual Yearling Show held Wednesday, July 13, in the English Walking Ring at Monmouth Park. The Lighthouse colt caught the eye of the large group of spectators right off for although he was a particularly large individual his conformation and appearance were almost perfect and he was indeed a popular winner when picked by judge Humphrey S. Finney. Owner Racine, a comparative newcomer to the Thoroughbred circle, has made his home at Brookdale Farm for several years and recently has taken over a small horse farm in West Long Branch. Racine, popularly known as "Trapper", has raced a horse with trainer Tom Haraway and owns one broodmare, Shore Leave, the dam of the show winner.

As reserve champion, Finney also picked a colt by Lighthouse out of a mare Roz's Rainbow, by *Mont Blanc, owned by Harry J. Newcombe's Leslie Jane Stable of Ridgewood. Although the fillies failed to place in the top honors, the large field attracted much notice. Honorary steward, Nelson Dunstan, turf columnist for The Morning Telegraph, placed the ribbon on the winner of the class, a bay filly by Attention out of Twisted Trail, by *Bull Dog, bred and raised at the Helis Stock Farm, Jobstown. Miss Virginia Helis of that organization was on hand to receive the trophy from Monmouth Park President Amory L. Haskell. Second place in the filly class was won by Linda Farm's chestnut by Nathaniel—Beaver Tail, by Jamestown.

Other winners included a chestnut colt by Knave High—Blue Tiara, by Opera Hat, a full brother to Blue Larkspur, shown by Woodland Farm and a brown colt by Mr. Cannon—Miss Broadway, by Neddie from Mrs. W. W. Vaughan's Oak Glen Farm, Red Band, who placed third and fourth, respectively, in the colt class. Miss Phoebe Phillips' chestnut by Lighthouse—Winnpearl, by *Jacopo and Helis Stock Farms' chestnut by Greek Warrior—Scotch Lass, by Attention were third and fourth in the filly class.

Of the eight horses to place in the show, four of them were by stallions standing at Amory Haskell's Woodland Farm, Middletown, managed by Edward Feakes. Mention of farm managers and foremen reminds us that these are the men who are particularly responsible for the excellent condition of the horses presented at the annual Yearling Show, but unfortunately they receive little of the public acclaim for their weeks of hard work in readying their entries. It is only through their diligent efforts that the appearance, manners and performance of the Thoroughbred youngsters improves each year.

As has been the custom, the show day at Monmouth Park is truly Breeders' Day for following a buffet luncheon given for the members of the association and their friends by Mr. Haskell, the afternoon card features the running of the $15,000-added New Jersey Futurity with a gross value this year of $24,110. This year's event was won by the highly regarded Hi-Sag, a son of Saggy—Imperieuse, by Jack High, bred by Irving Kirshbaum's Carolyn K Stable, Belford. This is the fourth straight win for the Kirshbaum colt and although his schedule has not been announced he has been nominated for the $30,000 Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park on August 8.

In addition to the Futurity, two other Jersey-Breds won in open competition. In the seventh race, Scub, owned by Bob Friedrich, Jr. of L'Opera Farm, Sewell, tallied, and Mrs. James Purdey of Greenfields Farm, Holmdel, accounted for the eighth race with her Blazing Home. So far, thirty-three Jersey-Breds have won in thirty-three days of racing at Oceanport.

Miss Todd, the world record holder of .57 for five furlongs, has registered her third straight stakes success and her sixth victory in seven starts. The 2-year-old chestnut daughter of Your Host has now brought her earnings to $51,425 by winning the Hollywood Lassie Stakes at Hollywood Park. As a result of the tremendous success of Your Host's 2-year-olds now running in California, much interest has been created in the three Your Host yearlings being sent to the Saratoga Sales. They are scheduled to go under the hammer Thursday, August 11.

James A. Pallante, Newark businessman and Thoroughbred owner, died late last week at his home in north Jersey. Pallante, a dedicated horseman who raced a small stable, took great pride in bringing back his horse Larry A. to the races after the horse had suffered a cracked sesamoid bone several years ago. Last year, after Pallante had lost the horse in a claiming race, Larry A. won seven races and $25,000. At the time of his death, Pallante owned one horse which was turned out at Peggy and Armand Sevarese's Tricorn Farm, Middletown.

Tara Farm, one of the finest horse farms in central Monmouth County, located on the Colt's Neck - Eatontown Road, has been sold by J. C. O'Hara to Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Cook of Mount Holly. The Cooks, who owned a rather large horse farm on the outskirts of Mount Holly, disposed of the property for a housing development. Taking over the O'Hara property, Cook plans to expand its rather limited horse facilities. There are several barns which can easily accommodate twenty horses in addition to its present capacity. Cook has also indicated that he intends to build a quarter-mile training track at the farm next Spring.

Dr. and Mrs. Russel J. Fosbinder of Clearfield Farm, Peapack, are vacationing in Nantucket. Dr. Fosbinder, who was recently elected president of the Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association of N. J., will return early in August for conferences at Rutgers University where the Horse Improvement Program will be reviewed and the establishment of a diagnostic clinic will be discussed. With reference to the diagnostic clinic, much research is being done by the Co-operative Inter-Breed Cattle Association of N. J. in the possibility of establishing a clinic for large animals here in the State and it is hoped that the horse and cattle people will arrive at a solution in order to eliminate the duplication of ef-

The Irish Oaks

Major McCalmont's Agar's Plough Wins Irish Oaks From Gaekwar of Baroda's Nile Bird

Philip de Burgh-O'Brien

At the Curragh, July 23, Major Victor McCalmont's filly Agar's Plough won the Irish Oaks, beating by a neck in a photo-finish another Irish trained filly, the Gaekwar of Baroda's Nile Bird (Sayajirao—Oatflake). Third place went to Double Luck (Persian Gulf—Habeas Corpus) owned by George Wildenstein, four lengths away. Hot favorite, French-bred Mah Behar was fourth.

In keeping this coveted prize at home history has repeated itself. It may be recalled, by some readers, that back in 1949 the famous "Boussac" race filly Coronation V came over with apparently the race as good as won. On that dramatic day she was foiled by the courage of Circus Lady, trained by Bob Fetherston and ridden by Herbert Holmes, carrying the colors of Major D. McCalmont. Alshowing that decisive turn of final speed; but jockeyship counted, too. Double Luck, the second French-bred runner, was running on, without ever seeming likely to trouble the leaders. Also ran: Mah Behar (fourth), Eastern Slipper, Low Cloud, Mrs. Jinks, Romanya, Evening Belle, Tourvandeau, Indian Queen, Gentle Maiden. S. P. odds first three: 10 to 1; 4 to 1; 11 to 2. Mah Behar, 6 to 4 favorite. Time 2.38.34. Race value to winner £3,312. Each filly carried 126 pounds.

Roger Poinclet, man enough to admit his error of judgment, thought, however, that with a clear run his filly might have won. My opinion is that Mah Behar, a heavy-topped filly, was unsuited by the very hard going. Also, that the second might well have won had her rider made better use of her undoubted stamina by most a repeat, except that Major Victor is the son.

High point of the race, run at a slow pace, was when Roger Poinclet elected to go on the inside, about three furlongs out. This proved disastrous; afterwards fully acknowledged, and described as a "tactical error of judgment" by Poinclet. Here, his mount ran into trouble; an opening was denied him, and in fact he had to snatch her up, twice. When he did get clear, the race was virtually over.

Up front, Nile Bird had taken over from the pacemaking Tourvandeau and Evening Belle; moving easily, she seemed the likely winner. Then, with a death or glory burst came Holmes on Agar's Plough, from the outside position. Too late, Powell tried desperately to match the challenge. At the post the judge called for the photo, which gave the race to Agar's Plough by a neck. Both fillies ran splendidly, with the winner forcing the pace more. Incidentally, (he and Palmer seem to improve their English with every appearance in the British Isles) Poinclet did say, "I see one filly in front of me, one beside me on rail, one outside me, I know I am in box, mais oui." Palmer was in sarcastic mood, "All bad fillies, just like in France. Only Meld good filly, certainement."

Agar's Plough, a dark brown, winner last year of the ranking Patriotics Plate was bred at the Ballymagooly Stud, and is by Combat (Big Game) out of that brilliant sprinting mare, Fair Fallow (Fairford) out of Bawn by Khan Bahadour (full brother to *Mahmoud) from Sun Pearl by Solario. Purchaser, as a yearling, was Major McCalmont for 1,600 guineas. This was a deserved and popular success for Curragh trainer, "Brud" Fetherston. His charges next engagement is the Yorkshire Oaks, and she may well merit consideration for the forthcoming International races.

Rural Equestrian Sports In The Netherlands

For many centuries equestrian sports have formed part of Dutch rural life, especially in the provinces of Friesland and Holland. As far back as the 17th century people enjoyed riding fast-trotting horses. In this way the Frisian trotter came into existence, and it was this horse that later contributed a good deal in helping create the famous Russian Orlov trotter. Even the Norfolk trotter underwent the influence of Frisian ancestors.

Frisian trotters were ridden under saddle or driven in chaises. In North and South Holland two trotting shows took place. The distance in most instances was 300 to 400 meters. Prizes—money or silver objects—were awarded inn-keepers who made it a condition that they re-presented in their establishments eventually the golden whips as first prizes. In the Frisian museum at Leeuwarden there is a large collection of such whips.

In other parts of the country equestrian sports comprised tournament called "beating of the cat" or "tearing the goose"; and riding at special ecclesiastical festivals.

After World War I two organizations were formed to promote rural equestrian sports in the Netherlands, viz. the Royal Dutch Federation of Rural Riding Clubs and the R. C. Netherlands Union of Rural Riding Clubs, the latter one counting only Roman Catholic riding farmers as members and forming part of the R. C. Farmers' Union. In the Royal Dutch Federation the farmers youth of all confessions is included, amongst it many hundred of girls.

The aim of the organizations is equestrian instruction with a view to teaching soundness towards horses and sufficient horsemanship—so as to promote the use of them in farming.

Equestrian sport is considered only a means to reach the aforementioned aim. Dutch farmers are not so much in favour of the Thoroughbred, but as a rule keep to a horse of the Oldenburgian-Eastfrisian type, i. e. to a medium to heavy plough horse, suited first as a draught-horse to work walking or trotting. The farmers liked a fast trotting horse, but to use it only by putting it to a chaise or a cart. Mounting a saddled horse was nearly out of the question. In their opinion it would not do for them, being it, as it were, a privilege of the land-owner! They were inclined to believe that horses would be spoiled by using them for riding, jumping or galloping. It will be readily visualized that it has been quite a job getting them to change their mind and making them see that equestrian sports are of economic importance to farming in general. This task was performed only after many years of work by the organizations. Next year Dutch rural equestrian sports celebrate their 25th anniversary.

Both organizations at present have approximately 10,000 registered members spread over some hundred riding clubs. The riding clubs of each province are gathered in a provincial union and these provincial unions represent the interests of members on the board of Directors.

Every year champion contests in each province are held, and winners of first and second prizes then compete in the national championships. At these championships not only the best riders, but also the best club teams compete.

O'Neill on Irish Vacation

Pat O'Neill, Manager of the Riddle Estate's portion of Faraway Farm, Lexington, was due to leave this week on a month's vacation trip to Europe. He plans to return to his native Ireland for the first time since he came to the U. S. in 1925; and to visit relatives in England, Scotland and France. His wife and two children are accompanying him.

C. R. Valentine will look after the farm during the O'Neills' absence.

Miss Zibby in Foal

Miss Zibby, dam of last year's leading juvenile earner Summer Tan, has been pronounced in foal to Spy Song. The mare is now owned by Reno Refrew, Paris breeder.

Combs Leases Crown Crest Acreage

Leslie Combs II, owner of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, last week leased, with an option to buy, the 550-acre main portion of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reineman's Crown Crest Farm on the Newtown Pike. The leased part includes the only mile dirt training track in Central Kentucky, two starting gates and two training barns, along with other facilities.

Mr. Combs, who now owns, leases or is partner in holdings totaling 2,500 acres, plans to use the new acreage as a training center for his own yearlings and those of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm. He will also move most of the Maine Chance brood mares there.

The Reinemans and their stock, except for the Crown Crest stallions will move to Woodvale Farm, purchased last Spring. The Reinemans also retained that part of Crown Crest, including the stallion barn, fronting on the Georgetown Pike.

Greentree Buys French Mare

Greentree Stud, Inc., Lexington, last week announced the purchase from Mathieu Goudchaux of the French brood mare Douce France, dam of the 1955 French Oaks winner Douve. The 11-year-old daughter of Rodosto—Because, by Palais Royal, has a suckling full sister to Douve and is again in foal to the latter's sire, Vandale. Douce Frances was sent to Ireland, where Greentree hopes to obtain a booking to a top stallion.

Coaltown Sold to France

Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm, Lexington, last week sold Citation's brilliant contemporary Coaltown to Marcel Boussac of France. The private transaction, at a reported price of $514,000, was concluded during a trans-oceanic telephone conversation between Calumet Farm Manager Paul Ebelhardt and Count Francois de Brignac, Manager of M. Boussac's racing and breeding interests. The ten-year-old son of Bull Lea—Easy Lass, by *Blenheim II is to be flown to France this week.

Calumet retained the right to send to Coaltown's court any European mares Mrs. Markey may purchase in the future.

Unraced at two because of a throat hemorrhage, Coaltown turned out to be one of the fastest horses of his time, even though overshadowed by his stable-mate Citation. Unplaced only seven times in 39 starts, the half brother to Wistful and Fanfare included among his 23 victories the Blue Grass, Swift and Whirlaway Stakes, Phoenix, Drexel, Jerome, McLennan, Widener, Gallant Fox, Roger Williams, Stars and Stripes, Arlington, Washington Park, Art Sparks and Children's Hospital Handicaps, and a walkover in the Edward Burke. In amassing $415,675, he set a new world mile record of 1:34; equaled world marks of 1:59½ for 1¼ miles and 1:47½ for 1½ miles; established two new 1¼-mile track records, 1:48½ at Arlington Park and 1:49½ at Keeneland; and matched two six-furlong track standards, 1:09½ at Hollywood Park and 1:09½ at Hialeah Park. In any crop except Citation's Coaltown would have been regarded as a great champion.

His first crop, two-year-olds this season, has included the stakes-placed Viking Victory.

Coaltown is the third stallion bought from Calumet by M. Boussac, who previously had obtained the now deceased Whirlaway and Fervent.

The stud-barn stall occupied by Coaltown at Calumet will probably be filled this fall by Mark-Ye-Well, although a final decision on that question will await Calumet General Manager Ben Jones' verdict on the future racing usefulness of that six-year-old.

Like Coaltown, Mark-Ye-Well is a son of Bull Lea from a *Blenheim II mare. His dam, Mar-Kell, took the Spinaway Stakes, Top Flight, Evening, Beldame and Cinderella Handicaps, and a dozen other races. Also like Coaltown, Mark-Ye-Well did not race at two; he was troubled by a weak stifle that kept popping out of joint.

Though neither so consistent nor so swift as Coaltown, Mark-Ye-Well has earned more money, $573,160. His chief triumphs have been achieved in the Arlington Classic, American Derby, Lawrence Realization, Clang, Santa Anita and Stars and Stripes Handicaps, San Fernando Stakes, Santa Anita Maturity, and Laurance Armour Memorial. He set a new American record of 2:00½ for 1¼ miles on Santa Anita Park's downhill grass course, and equaled the turf-course standard of 1:48½ for 1½ miles at Arlington Park.

Mr. King bought the stallion by He Did—Seldina, by Insko, for $30,000 out of the Breaux dispersal in August, 1952. With Pleasure had accounted for the Prairie State, Hollywood Laddie and Quick Step Stakes, Domino, Equipose Mile, Sheridan, Vosburgh, Scarsdale and Inglewood Handicaps.

dentally, while a well known Texas horseman was visiting Britt's place recently, he started to extol the merits of Suggested, with Britt listening attentively. Britt later broke into the Texan's running recital, inviting the visitor to step over to his barn, where he pointed to a regal looking chestnut and murmured, "Friend, there's the horse you have just been telling me about, Suggested in person, and if he is one half as good as Charley Kenney first claimed and you later substantiated, then he will do the Britt clan a lot of good" said the happy owner. "I just unloaded the horse as you came over the hill" added Britt.

May Raise Thoroughbreds

Elmer Seybold, owner of the palatial Seybold Guest Ranch near Mineral Wells, Texas, is toying with the thought of adding a few Thoroughbred mares to his remuda here. Most of Seybold's horses now are used by guests of his establishment, but if he decides to add Thoroughbreds, these will be retained for breeding only and nothing else. "I think a man might have a spot of luck with Thoroughbreds and I have the facilities here to raise some good foals" commented Seybold, who reminded listeners that this would not be the first time he has had Thoroughbreds in his care.

The Clubhouse Turn

To "Sponsor" Race Horse

Enboldened by the success attending like ventures, Panther Chemical Company, progressive Fort Worth concern, is planning to sponsor the career of a Thoroughbred racehorse, proceeds from which will be used to further the ambition and incentive of the company's salesmen. Still in the early stages of development, according to W. H. (Bill) Crawford, executive Vice President for the organization and remembered by sports followers as one of T G U's brightest football stars in the 'forties, in charge of arrangements, who announced that ownership of a Kentucky-bred yearling filly had been vested in the company and that it was hoped to have the filly ready for racing during the Kentucky season in 1956.

No definite program has yet been set. The filly, yet un-named is by Boodle, Whitney-bred stud, out of Good and Lucky by Chance Shot and is currently in the hands of W. H. Floyd, who maintains a small 40 acre farm on the Paris Pike, Lexington, Ky. Boodle is a son of "Mahmoud out of Boojiana by Boojum—Foxiana by "Stefan the Great, while Good and Lucky, out of Silver by "Bel-fonds out of Sleek by Ariel, should combine into something worth while, but only time will tell. Good and Lucky had a poor career as a racer, winning one race in three years and this 1954 filly is said to be her first youngster.

Meanwhile, down here in Texas all members of the Panther organization, one of the most co-operative in the Southwest, and which sponsors some really large undertakings as witness the chartering of an ocean going vessel, complete with crew and all equipment, for the company's annual celebration some months ago, are waiting news.

"We are really in the dark down here but many of our officers know quite a bit about racing and breeding and we will come out okay" commented Crawford. And all of us in racing hope they will. — B. B.

"Anti-Social"

If, on a pleasant afternoon at Monmouth Park, you notice a lone figure in the center of the track prior to the running of a race, don't believe him anti-social or a privileged character.

This would be Nolan Robinson, a member of the starting crew of Eddie Blind's.

And if you should see Starter Blind wave a red flag in Robinson's direction, and the latter return the gesture don't think this is their way of saying "hello."

Actually, Robinson is there on official business, in one of the easiest but most important jobs in racing, and it's function few notice and less understand. He is known as the flag man, and he is at his vantage point in the event of a false start.

Should a false break develop, Starter Blind would immediately signal Robinson by waving a flag. Robinson, about 100 yards down the track, in turn waves his and sounds a horn to notify the jockeys that the start is void and a recall asked for.

So competent are Eddie Blind and his assistants no false start has been recorded since Monmouth Park opened in 1946. But Robinson draws a daily salary to be on hand in case there ever was one.

No Time Wasted

Trainer Eddie Pappalardo acquired his race horse trainers license in the morning and saddled his first winner the same afternoon. The popular Jersey City trainer is now at Monmouth Park.

Down and Out

Jockey Nick Shuk, now riding at Monmouth Park, has no trouble recalling his most exciting moment on the race track. It occurred in 1953 when he was involved in a six-horse spill in an eight-horse field.

Hopkins Retires

G. Walter "Hop" Hopkins, dean of the sports photographers, retired last week at the age of 72 from The Sutcliffe Co. Louisville, where he had worked for well over half a century.

Before the turn of the century, Hop started covering all types of Louisville sporting events, from high-school athletics to the Kentucky Derby — not for the newspapers, which then did not have facilities for photographic reproduction; but for display in Sutcliffe's window. His collection of 30,000 negatives is a pictorial history of sports in Louisville; and he can come up, after a search, with a picture of almost any old-time star you can name. For 37 years he photographed every Derby winner.

But his most unusual picture, he thinks, was one he took at the 1924 Derby. A man from California came up and asked him to photograph a nearby girl whom neither knew. Hop obliged, and was paid $10 for the picture. Later he included a print of it among a group of Derby pictures in Sutcliffe's window. The girl saw it, and came in to ask why he had taken her picture. Hop explained, and sent her address to the Californian. Six months later they stopped to see Hop — after their wedding.

Schoolgirls' Reward

Like many fathers, Forrest H. Lindsay, Tulsa, Okla., oilman, promised his two daughters, Suzanne, 20, and Beverly, 11, a reward if they got better grades in school. There was not a thing unusual in that.

But the nature of the reward was somewhat unusual, and the price paid for it even more so.

The Lindsay girls had been interested in show horses, but now they decided they would like to have a race horse. So Mr. Lindsay promised them one in return for better marks.

Suzanne and Beverly studied hard, and their father kept his end of the bargain. He went to the Keeneland Summer Sales; and picked out for them a "Nas-rullah — In Bloom colt consigned by Dr. Esle Asbury's Forest Retreat Farm, Carlyle, Ky. And he bought the colt for them, too, even though he had to bid $80,000, top price of the vendue and the second highest price ever brought by an American yearling sold at public auction. Dr. Asbury's son-in-law, James H. Stone, a business associate of Mr. Lindsay's, did the actual bidding.

If the Lindsay family has any difficulty in choosing a name for their new acquisition, "Scholars Prize" might not be a bad selection.

Siravo's Red Red Robin

Eddie Siravo, racing a sizeable string of Thoroughbreds under the nom de course of Sandy Lane Farm, has been trying to hit the jackpot for many years. Following the victory of his Red Red Robin in the Gen. John W. A. Green Handicap at Rockingham last Saturday it seems that the Apponaug, R. I. owner-trainer has started to get the feel of the heavy sugar in the sport and will bear watching at the Lincoln Downs' meeting.

Siravo's orange and black silks have been familiar on the New England circuit for many years. He attained some prominence a few years back with Royal Marvel, a Royal Nap colt who had the makings of a top race horse. However, injuries cut down Royal Marvel's career and Siravo picked up Red Red Robin for a claiming tag of $6500 from Mrs. R. C. Hodge in Florida and shipped this son of Papa Redbird to New England.

Red Red Robin was on the shelf for a short time last year but quickly responded to training and he was pointed for the $50,000 added Lincoln Special last April. Siravo had high hopes of figuring in the distribution of the Special purse. His hopes were dimmed when two days before the running of the big race fire broke out in the stable area, close by the stall that housed Red Red Robin. The colt was let loose to avoid injury and this mishap forced his scratching from the Special.

Red Red Robin, soon after the spring meeting at Lincoln, began coming into his own. He annexed a $7500 race at Narragansett Park, went on to beat $9500 company at Rockingham and before winning last Saturday's Gen. Green Handicap won an allowance race at the Rock, beating among others Fire King and Irving Gushen's Arthur S.

New York's Bugler

If you are wondering whether the bugler who announces the arrival of the horses on the tracks for the New York Racing Associations is going to miss a note some day, relax. He won't.

His name is Karl Rissland and he's a real pro. You can't help but have noticed how clearly and truly he sends those bugle notes out across the greens (?) of Belmont, Aqueduct, Jamaica, and Saratoga. (If you haven't heard him, you better get out of the bar and watch the horses more).

Karl comes by his music honestly. His father and uncle are both graduates of the Leipzig Conservatory of Music. The father was second violinist and concert master for 40 years with the New York Symphony. He was also personnel manager for Walter Damrosch. The uncle was with the Boston Symphony as a violinist for many years. Both are in their eighties and spry as chipmunks, Karl says.

Karl himself attended the Institute of Musical Art which is now the Juilliard School. He was first trumpeter with the New York, Minneapolis, and San Francisco Symphonies. In World War I, he was Sergeant Bugler with the 306 Field Artillery of the 77th Division (the Field Artillery has ninety some bugle calls).

Hasty House Farm's PLATAN, Johnny Adams up, scored a 3 length victory over Valley Farm's Impasse, an outsider and Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well, which was 3rd in the Arlington Handicap, world's richest grass race. His time for the mile and three-sixteenths distance was 1:54 $\frac{3}{4}$  seconds, a new American turf record.

The Clubhouse Turn

Came the Armistice, he was sergeant bugler at General Pershing's headquarters in charge of all the buglers (how many buglers do they need at Hq.?). Karl has mixed in with his Army and symphony work some Broadway shows and considerable time as first trumpeter for NBC Artists Service.

In the summer of 1941, the wife of the regular bugler at Saratoga died. Karl filled in while the bereaved went to his wife's funeral and has been on the job ever since. Karl plays "first call" twice before every race which he figures adds up to some 40,000 "first calls" since 1941. That must be some sort of record.

On the job, somebody tells Karl the post time for the next race. Then Karl keeps looking at his watch so he is out on the track 10 minutes before post time to do his stint. When the New York season is over, he throws his watch away and packs his bugle off to Saratoga for the winter. His home is up there as is that of his rugged son who is a forest ranger.

Doings Twenty Years Ago —

Efforts were being made to arrange a match race between the late William Woodward's Triple-Crown winning Omaha and Bahram, winner of the Epsom Derby . . . The race to be for $50,000 at Narragansett Park . . . Lewis Carroll's famed reference to "Cabbages and Kings" was given new meaning with the news that Omaha, king of the 3-year-olds, relished cabbage leaves . . . J. J. Isaacson, General Manager of Ak-Sar-Ben, which had just resumed horse-racing with passage of pari-mutuel legislation, was considering a $20,000 purse to attract the horse Omaha to Omaha, Nebraska (Omaha is today at stud in the Omaha region, on loan by Mr. Woodward to Nebraska horsemen).

Herbert Bayard Swope, then Chairman of the New York State Racing Commission, made an eloquent plea for legislation legalizing pari-mutuel betting in New York . . . The late John Oliver Keene gave Hal Price Headley an option on a portion of his farm and a movement was started in Lexington to build a model race track (now known as Keeneland) . . . Eddie Arcaro, weakened by the rigors of reducing, was prostrated by the heat at Arlington Park . . . Rockingham Park Stewards called upon to consider the use of jockeys of a new-fangled gadget, ruled against the use of goggles . . . Santa Anita had pioneered a method of photographing the finish and similar experiments were being considered by other tracks . . . Walter Donovan, today General Manager of Garden State Park, then Secretary of the Florida State Racing Commission, was visiting Thomas R. Underwood, then secretary of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, in Kentucky . . . Mary Hirsch, daughter of Max Hirsch and now Mrs. Charles J. McLennan, became the first woman trainer to be licensed by The Jockey Club.

Eddie Taplin, nearing fifty and the oldest active jockey then riding, was given pause for thought with the news from England that 80-odd-year-old Harry Beaseley, a rider over jumps and on the flat, and the father of three jockeys, had ridden his own filly, Mollie unplaced in the Corinthian Plate at Baldoyle, Ireland . . . George P. Odom, son of George D. Odom, saddled his first winner, Royal Vixen at Empire City . . . Ralph Neves, one-time Palo Alto California golf caddy was in the news having ridden 27 winners in 10 days at Longacres, Seattle. G. H. "Pete" Bostwick returned from England where, though he had fallen with Castle Irwell in the Grand National, he had ridden 10 winners, eight seconds and seven thirds in other steeplechases 'round and about Great Britain . . . There was editorial speculation in The Blood-Horse concerning the day when motion pictures would be made of races . . . Alfred G. Vanderbilt, his big stable headed by Discovery, was having a highly successful season which was to conclude with him topping the owners list with earnings of $303,605, for 88 victories including 37 stakes races.

Jamaica Figures Down

Although the final figures weren't in by the time this writer extricated himself from Jamaica, I understand the attendance and mutuel handle are down some ten percent. They say it's the heat. Seems more likely a result of the 15% New York take-out from the mutuel handle and run-down facilities for John Q. Public at Jamaica.

Montgomery Pony Club Rally

The rally to climax the organizational year had to be postponed so many times on account of rain, summer vacation absences, etc. that it seemed watered down when it was finally held. There were no trial rides, picnics, swims and plantation party as originally planned. Instead, a very workmanlike review of the year's progress in equitation, dressage and jumping was held. Much interest was expressed in the National Pony Club Trials with this summer's activity pointed toward the Middle Tennessee One-Day Trials, as the first project in this direction. Since most of the riders and all of the ponies had to start from the bottom, much satisfaction was gained from testing them in dressage, jumping and training.

It has been suggested that any one club might pool the talents of interested sustaining members or parents with neighboring clubs. For instance, in Unionville, Pa. Dr. Jacques Jenny is willing and anxious to teach First Aid and Veterinary Care to any children in the whole vicinity who wish to attend. All Pony Clubs in eastern Pennsylvania are being notified of this opportunity. This sort of thing might well work out in other areas where the clubs are fairly near together.

Another wonderful opportunity for Pony Club members is the chance given by the Brandywine Polo Association to work polo ponies in the mornings. This is a real plum, for those whose riding warrants such a privilege, and a great incentive to hard work.

We have been fortunate in persuading Miss Margaret Lindsley Warden, whose Middle Tennessee Pony Club now numbers 118, and is one of the most enthusiastic and efficient of them all, to make available to other District Commissioners the delightful and helpful Middle Tennessee Bulletins, at a subscription price of $1.50 a year. We recommend them! If you are interested, write Miss Warden, at 1806 East Belmont Circle, Nashville, Tennessee.

We are delighted to make available the list of riders who have been rated by the N.S.G.W.S. (National Section of Girls' and Women's Sports), which has been sent us through the kindness of Mrs. John L. Campbell, Jr., chairman of their Riding Committee, Box 774, Lexington, Virginia. The Executive Committee felt that it would be most helpful to the member clubs to know where these rated riders are. In several of the clubs the N.S.G.W.S. riders have been helping out a great deal, both in encouraging Pony Club instructors and teaching the children. Mrs. Campbell writes: "We are very much interested in encouraging Pony Club instructors. We also hope that those instructors who are not rated riders will feel it worth while to attend one of our Centers."

U.S.E.T. Medal Class

Sponsored by the McLean Horse Show, the USET Medal Class and a modified 3-day event were successfully staged at Madeira School on Sunday, July 10. The two events (dressage and stadium jumping) required for the Medal Class with the addition of a cross country course over obstacles (about 3¼ mi) run in the order stated made up the modified 3-day event.

The creditable performances of both horses and riders plus a more thorough understanding by the participants of the purposes and objectives of the two classes were both achieved by a week of instruction and preparation preceding the events.

At this stage of introducing this new Medal Class to riders under 21 years of age, this procedure seems to be most desirable and certainly in our case, proved most productive. Obviously neither horse nor rider can be trained in a week, but great improvement was and can be achieved by riding for a week under instruction several hours a day with a specific objective in mind. The participants finished the events with confidence and understanding as well as an aroused curiosity and interest that should draw them to similar future events.

Twenty-one riders underwent the week of instruction which was given under the direction of Miss Mildred Gaines and Miss Madge Barclay. The schedule of instruction was geared to the requirements of the Medal Class, with variations to fit needs of a few who were not directly interested in the class.

Briefly the first two days were devoted to transitions, gallop departs and exercises to make the horse respect and respond to the leg. Simultaneously, the coordinated and proper use of aids to achieve more acceptance by the horse collected movements and with this we agree. However, it does call for a two-track at the walk both to the right and to left for at least one third the length of the ring in each direction as well as a volte (20' diameter circle) at the ordinary gallop. Both of these movements do require collection, especially the former, which in addition calls for a degree of horsemanship considerably above the level necessary for the remainder of the ride. Universally these two movements and the turn on the haunches were the worst of any in the ride and the two-track seemed to be beyond the grasp and ability of all the contestants.

In the jumping phase, the conditions of the class call for two scores: a maximum of 45 points awarded for the performance of the rider and 45 for the horse; from these maximums, deductions are made by the judges to give their evaluation of the overall performance. The suggestion is made that a more ac-of the bit and to execute the various movements required in the schooling ride were explained and drilled into the riders. The last three days were devoted to working on portions of the school ride culminating in a complete ride and critique the last day. In addition to the "schooling," a limited amount of work over jumps was done on each of the five days, as well as an explanation of the F.E.I. rules and some advice on how to ride the cross country phase.

Based on the ability of riders and horses, (and it was certainly average or above) during both the period of instruction and the day of the Medal Class, a few observations are offered for what they are worth. The dressage or school ride does not specifically call for any curate evaluation might be achieved by weighting the performance of the rider at 60 and the horse at 30—after all, the horse responds pretty much in accordance with the ability of the rider.

Simultaneous judging but by separate judges for the stadium jumping was done to get a score for the Medal Class competition and a separate F.E.I. score for the three-day event. Because the Medal Class took priority over the three-day event, the cross-country phase of the latter was run after the Medal Class events.

Sarah Willis and her mount April Dawn deserve much praise for their double win of both events. Judges were Brigadier General F. W. Boye, Brigadier General J. T. Duke and Alden Crane.

Norfolk Hunt Pony Club

It is hard to believe that the Norfolk Hunt Pony Club, which now has 106 members, is not much over a year old. In February, 1954, Nathaniel T. Clark, M.F.H. of the Norfolk Hunt Club, called a meeting to consider forming a Pony Club. At this meeting Mrs. John Grew was chosen District Commissioner, Mr. Clark chairman of the Committee, and Mrs. John A. Reidy Secretary-Treasurer.

Application forms and an invitation to a rally were sent to some 175 children interested in riding in the Norfolk Hunt area, and on April 30, 1954, we had a highly successful inaugural meeting at the Town Hall in Dover. Brig-Gen. J. Tuper Cole gave a most interesting talk on the training, riding and care of a horse and showed moving pictures of Olympic Equestrian competition.

During the first summer, with many of the members away, the Pony Club was run very informally. Mrs. Grew gave a great deal of time to the children who were available, teaching them about riding, stable care, and beagling, and Mr. Clark lent his stable for instruction.

In the fall the D test was given, and practically all the members were able to pass it. Mrs. Grew then divided the children into eight squads, four of them aiming for their C tests, and the other four consisting of the sixty younger Pony Club members. There were many activities during the spring—a chance to practice stable work, delightful lectures on anatomy and the conformation of the horse by Miss Amelia Peabody in her studio, beagling, and, by April, a great deal of instruction by enthusiastic volunteers. Mrs. E. O. Smith, Jr. was kind enough to become coach for the riders trying out for the National Rally in June. It is impossible to mention all the people who have helped us so generously in so many ways, but we do particularly want to thank Miss Edith Hall, Mrs. Kenneth Read, and Miss June Wildes for all the time they gave in teaching.

There were many highlights in our Pony Club's progress. In the Christmas vacation, we had an afternoon of splendid sporting moving pictures, taken and shown of Mr. John I. Hoffman of Coatesville, Pa., for the children; and the same evening has a supper and the moving pictures again, for adults, at the Dedham Country and Polo Club. These events earned money for the Pony Club, as well as making many new friends for it.

Another most successful venture was the sale of second-hand riding clothes and tack, held in the April vacation. A large group of parents, headed by Mrs. Anne Cornell and Mrs. Carl Johnson, helped with this, and $200. was netted for our treasury.

One of the best events of all was the day at Dana Hall, when Captain Fred Marsman invited all the senior riders to come and use his horses, his ring, and benefit by his instruction as to a programme ride, of which most of them had known very little. A competition for Pony Club members, in teams, was included in the P.H.A. show, the Dedham, Millwood, and North Shore shows, and proved very interesting. Another delightful occasion was the joint meet of the Noanet and Sir Sister Beagles, with tea at the Stokes Gaithers' and a talk by Mr. Josiah H. Child.

During May and June the preparations for the National Rally became very intense. The team we sent comprised: Louisa Williams, Captain; Lila Cornell; Beth Dabney; and, as stable helper, Anne Gaither. Louisa rode the Powers Stable's new grey hunter, Mr. O'Reilly, Beth had the Dedham Country and Polo Club Stables' faithful grey Peter, and Lila was mounted on Captain Marsman's handsome bay, Snip. Anna Powers, Mickey Burke and Captain Marsman have all been unfailing in their cooperation and help, and, with so many children eager to ride and so few owning horses, we could not possibly have done what we have without them.

Those who had a chance to go to the National Rally in Unionville, Pa. had a wonderful time and came back surer than ever of the value of the Pony Clubs. There were two B teams and eleven C teams there, Norfolk finishing sixth of the C's. We placed fourth in the programme ride, on a rainy Sunday afternoon; had bad fortune in the cross country ride and were tenth (although Beth and Peter had the third best individual score of all); and, with a score of 295 out of a possible 300, tied with two other clubs for third in the stadium jumping. In the dismounted work, our team tied for third in stable management; was sixth in veterinary knowledge; and tied for fifth in the test on horsemanship and foxhunting. Team members and horses all came back in good shape, and full of enthusiasm for another year.

Pony Club Members In Canada

There are over 900 members of the Pony Club in Canada. The Canadian Pony Club Advisory Board has fully recognized 16 Branches. Branches which returned reports on the number of male members (9 did) show an average of slightly more than three girls to every boy. The three senior Branches show an average of one out of six members as being Associates (in the age group of over 16 years and under 21.) Newer Branches understandably would have fewer in this age category.

North Jersey

Although it was held on one of the hottest days of the year, the North Jersey Horse and Pony League Show went on with usual enthusiasm. The show is open only to those youngsters who have not yet reached their 21st birthdays and is run by the junior members of the No. J. H. & P. L.

One of the main events of the day was the fitting and showing class. This was divided into two sections, one for ponies and one for horses. In order to be eligible, the juniors must be active members of the League and have groomed and trained a horse or pony for one month prior to the show. They were judged on the general condition and cleanliness of the animal and the showmanship of the child. Winner in the pony division was Merillat Frost's Roger Whitefoot and tops in the division for horses was Carol Thurston's Golden Dust.

HORSE SHOWS

Battle Creek

The Battle Creek Horse Show is held on the grounds of the Battle Creek Hunt Club. It was extremely hot for the whole show and the exhibitors were happy to be allowed to show in shirt sleeves.

The Conformation division was very close between August A. Busch's Loaded, and Miss Lynn Belnap's Snowstorm. In the end, the former was pinned Champion. The working division ended up in a tie between the same two owners. They hacked it off and Miss Belnap's Woodlad was pinned champion over Red Bird.

The equitation division was very close between Lynn Belnap and Wilson Dennehy. Lynn was named Champion. Miss Lynn Stoddard, with her newly acquired Canvas Master, that she just purchased from Max Bonham, won both the AHSA Medal Class, and the ASPCA. Lynn is from Grand Rapids, and hopes to go to New York for her first trip this Fall.

The open jumper division was again a competition between Black Watch of Charles Dennehy's and Velvet Lassie. This time the championship was reversed from that of Detroit's, and Velvet Lassie was Champion. Max was very busy during all these June shows as he rode five open horses in each open class.

John Vass of Manlius, N. Y. and the John J. McDonalds judged the show. They were really kept extremely busy running from the outside course to the ring. The show was the largest it has ever been.

Brown-Lea

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Robinson's horses Kandarrah and Blue Peter were the big winners at the fun show held north of Toronto. Lee Ledson rode the two consistent performers to earn 3 firsts, 3 seconds and a fourth. Gordon Martin had a slashing good performance in the open working hunter to win with his big roan mare Easy Aces. The broad jump with an unkind oxer to start over, resulted in plenty of flying poles, the eventual winner was W. J. Edward's High Sierra.

Brush Hill

Good spirit, new grounds, favorable weather, and many new additions to the hunter-jumper ranks made the Fifth Annual Brush Hill Horse Show one of the best of the New England circuit this season. Manicured green turf surrounded by shade trees, with the Columbian Fathers Major Seminary as a backdrop, proved to be the most perfect location yet found for this increasingly popular show.

The open jumper division was given added spice by several horses and riders new to this area. Zing, a Canadian gelding recently acquired by Miss Terry Moynahan from Avalon Farms, put in unequalled rounds in both the jumper stake and Brush Hill Special to bring the championship home to Indian Line Farm.

Jimmy Donaldson piloted Mrs. Q. A. Shaw-McKean's Dueller, up from Southern Pines for the summer, to win the knock-down-and-out. Then, to prove the horse's versatility he took him over the outside course in a round that won the NEBPIA working hunter class. It took an old faithful to win the first leg on the Dr. Frank H. Russo Memorial Challenge Trophy for working hunter champion, as Me Can Do galloped and jumped to prove his worth just one more time. Dr. Russo's sudden death this spring came as a shock

Delta Kappa

The popular item of young Susie Clements and the big chestnut hunter Patsy, made a victorious sweep of events at the second annual Kappa Delta horse show. These two earned the blues in the open, working hunter and road hack classes, and were pinned second in bareback jumping after a close tie.

The open jumping class was a thriller, with Woody Dubois taking top honors over Verna Broschis and her buckskin, Sky Queen.

Huntington

The Huntington Y show has laid claim to being the largest one day show in the country with its latest venture held July 18th at Rice Farms. The combined efforts of the Knickerbockers and manager, Ralph Petersen produced a listed thousand and entries with probably only a hundred or so scratches. Hunter and jumper classes were about average but the children's events were enormous. In spite of the large number of participants, the show was run off with dispatch and only the horsemanship championship was a bit late in finishing.

Raymond Burr made the long trip from Pennsylvania a most successful one by accounting for the regular and green working hunter tricolors with the Myrin horses, Kimberling and Kimberton Vike respectively. Kimberling won his championship over Saxon Woods Farm's Naute Mia although he did not show in the amateur which Naute Mia won with Mrs. Robert Schmid riding.

A horse sold by Joe Green last year was tops in the green jumper classes. A tie had resulted between Allen Chesler's Shady Lady ridden by Phil Ragonetti and Miss Joan Gartner's owner ridden Rocket and as a result of a jump-off the award went to the former. Incidentally, the green classes were particularly well filled with some thirty horses.

Tops in horsemanship was Miss Julie Kellam with Maclay winner, Dina Del Balso reserve.

New Jersey P. H. A.

By far the most popular win in the New Jersey Professional Horsemen's Association Spring Horse Show was Miss Anne C. Voorhees' triumph in the junior working hunter championship. The Hill-top Stable's perpetual challenge trophy for this class, donated by Miss Gail Savage, is in memory of Anne's mother, Mrs. Anna Christie Voorhees, and it seemed very fitting that Ann should win the trophy in its first year of competition.

Mrs. Thomas Forman and her Javelin combined to be the top winners of the day, claiming two tri-colors. Mrs. Forman came out on top in both the hunter and jumper divisions.

Nebraska Charity

The people of the eastern part of Nebraska generously supported the Charity Horse Show co-sponsored by the Lincoln Saddle Horse Club, Inc., and the Sertoma Civic Club of Lincoln for the benefit of Sertoma's Youth Activities. The principle youth activity of Sertoma is the Cedars Home for Children. Special guests at the two-day show were the children of several institutional homes including the Cedars Home, St. Thomas Orphanage, and Whitehall which is the Nebraska State Home for Dependent Children. Seating space was soon sold out in the coliseum at the state fair grounds where the horse show was held, and the many exhibitors willingly rode for "trophies and ribbons only" in a concerted effort to make a greater profit for the Sertoma sponsorships.

The classes with the most entries were the junior horsemanship classes as a result of the lesson program for juniors now in force for the third year at the Lincoln Saddle Horse Club.

New Brunswick

Despite hot sun on Saturday and a terrific downpour of rain on Sunday afternoon, the New Brunswick Horse Show went on with usual enthusiasm. Since the event was classified as a "B" show in the working hunter, jumper and Morgan divisions, large entries were the order of the day. Two rings and the outside course were kept constantly busy with a full schedule.

Kimberton Hills Farm was the top winner of the show, claiming seven blues and both the green and working hunter championships. The corinthian class was the most colorful event of the show as the hunt colors and pink coats flashed over the picturesque outside course.

Top competition was also the mark of the jumper classes and it was necessary to have at least one clean round in order to win a ribbon in the full classes. Because the ribbons were so well spread in this division, there was a tie for reserve as two horses had gained 10 points each. Because of the muddy ground, the riders, Joe Green and Sonny Brooks, elected to toss for the ribbon. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Coates' Volco's Matador was the horse tied with Irl Daffin's Bedford.

Schlegel's Farm

Entries on the whole were rather light, but a good sized crowd gathered together braving the heat in behalf of this small country show, which was sponsored by the Oley Fire Company Truck Crew, and held in Pricetown, Pa. on July 17th.

Had there been an award for the most outstanding child rider it would have certainly gone to Linda Overly. Linda topped other child riders to take the blue ribbon in four classes on her handy little gelding, Dark Danger. Jumpers worthy of note were Mrs. E. T. Hirst's Bright Eyes by Bud Evans and James Pottenbaugh's owner-ridden Sir Mike.

Stouffville

Stouffville, Ontario had a nice show on July 1st, the National Holiday. This is a very nice setting in the town park with good shade trees which were very welcome in the heat, but this was relieved at noon by a proper but brief downpour complete with hail. The town takes its odd name from the Stouffer family, old timers in the area.

Green hunter champion, with an impressive string of four victories was Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Chassels' mare Valley Sign. Reserve was Jim Elder's pleasant going big chestnut, The Whip. O. D. Robinson's Kandarah was hunter champion but a 4-way tie for reserved presented a problem which was not unsnarled by departure time so presumably all four remained tied. The catch was that the show offered working and conformation events and one hunter championship only.

Jumper events produced nothing startling but attracted some of Ontario's best. Black Velvet, Hing Hi, Oregon Duke and more recently Touchdown are famous names and these figured at the top of events with Grey Velvet and W. R. Ballard's Polly, a son of old Poppy, getting tie scores for third in the open jumper. These are all good horses, nor is there any intention to detract from their ability, but at the moment Ontario does not seem to have the powerhouse of performers it had a few years ago.

Sun Set Ranch

A fair-sized group of jumpers, in quest of Connecticut Horse Show Association points, turned out for this English-western show. Once again it was Pitchfork and Rimwrack who lined up in that order when the jumper championship was pinned.

Cliff Congdon, Pitchfork's owner-rider appeared in the ring in a new role. Cliff led his protegee, five-year-old June King and her pony Frosty, in the Lead Line class and they placed first in the field of ten very young riders.

Valley Hunt

The weather was cool and the competition hot for the three day Valley Hunt Club horse show at Bradford, Pa. A good entry throughout provided plenty of spectator entertainment, with the green working and regular conformation championship not decided until the stake class.

John Kenney's Sky UMBER and W. H. Hanley's Red Chester were nip and tuck for points in the conformation division, the former prevailing when he won the stake over "Chester".

Ted Roulston's Champ Town ran away with the regular working hunter championship, winning every one of his classes with brilliant rounds. When the dust settled he was nine points ahead of his nearest competitor, Lakelawn Farms' personable Little Trip.

The quality of the riding in the junior division was excellent, and those who won ribbons really earned them, as the entries were heavy in the majority of classes. Judy Pfiefer won the Medal class and then came back to win the John Cambell Memorial for the championship.

Young Peter Schmitt piloted his Top Again to the green working championship over Daneen Lenehan's Kool Kat, and in the green conformation section W. C. Robinson's handsome grey, Steady Friar, garnered the tricolor from Eliza-beth Ginther's Bright Prospect.

Ben Hur, owned by the Interstate Supply Company, topped the jumper division and W. H. Hanley's Sultan's War was next in points. Sultan's War proved his versatility by also winning ribbons in the working hunter classes.

Perhaps the hit of the show was the pet goat, Patsy, who was thoroughly startled by two Shetland ponies giving an exhibition in harness. He hasn't yet decided whether or not they are his second cousins.

Wethersfield

The dry, red clay soil of the Wethersfield horse show grounds was ground to a fine powder by the many hacks and saddle horses as they worked out in the two rings. The result was a cloud of dust that even frequent watering failed to settle. The fetlock-deep dust looked so inviting to one horsemanship horse that he lay down and rolled as soon as he entered the ring.

Miriam Duffy's Main Attraction and Charlotte Hoppe's Hi-mac were closely matched, each having fourteen points toward the working hunter championship, and they had to hack off the tie. The tricolor went to Main Attraction.

Another tie was discovered too late for the hack-off. This one was in the pleasure hack division between London Queenette and Little Colonel. The show committee admitted that a mistake was made in figuring points and agreed to award championship ribbons to both horses.

Pitchfork and Rimwrack shared jumper honors for the umpteenth time, with Pitchfork finishing one point ahead for the championship.

It is interesting to note that the champion and reserve champion in all three divisions were owner ridden.

NSGWS Rating Center At Sweet Briar College

The Blue Ridge mountains were really ringing from June 9th through the 15th when a group of enthusiastic horsemen and women gathered for the Annual Rating Center at Sweet Briar, Va. Three expert teachers headed by Capt. V. S. Littauer and including Miss Harriet Rogers and Mr. Russell Walther, were on hand to put the 17 riders through a strenuous course of instruction. After the riders were evaluated, they were divided into two groups, a position group and a schooling group. The course included work on elementary and intermediate control, position, teaching methods, and forward schooling.

Each day work was done in the ring and field with the schooling group gaining experience in helping to teach the position group and in the evenings movies were shown on forward schooling and control and how to teach position. A written exam on theory was given those who wished to obtain a national rating, plus a practical demonstration of the rider's ability in the field and a program ride in the ring.

One of the more interesting phases of the evening sessions were the discussions. Continued On Page 28

German International Horse Show at Wiesbaden

Reiner Schlosser

The first German international horse show took place over Whitsun Day in the Park of Biebrich Castle near Wiesbaden. As the Germans had cancelled its tour to Spain all the cream of the show jumping and dressage world were there, Wiesbaden being the official dressage rehearsal for the riders and horses to be included in the team for next year's Olympic games. There were also riders taking part from the U. S. A., Holland, France, Belgium.

In the jumping competitions Herr Tiedemann was the big winner and got the special prize for the show's most successful competitor. On Whitmonday he won the combined horses jumping competition with Finale & Meteor. In this competition each rider had first to ride a parcours de vitesse (speed), then change his mount and jump a parcours de puissance (height), the time for the changeover also being counted. It seems that Herr Tiedemann, who has so far had the reputation for being a rather slow, careful show jumping rider, is now going in for speed too. He will most probably represent Germany in the Aachen World Championship this year with Meteor and Finale, the youngster which he brought out the first time in Dortmund, but which is improving all the time.

Like last year Wiesbaden show included again a class S working hunter class, which was rather tough so that 9 out of 18 competitors were eliminated, most of them at the Trakehner ditch. In this competition Herr J. Matz, one of the most promising international show jumping riders here, broke his arm, which did not prevent him from winning a class L jumping competition on Heinke later in the day.

York

Irl A. Daffin's Bedford resumed a winning streak begun at Hanover by coping the jumper championship at the York Horse Show.

But he won by only a whisker-length, for he had to jump-off an 11-point tie with Linky Smith's nice new sorrel mare, Miss Virginia. Joe Green piloted Bedford to a faultless performance in the jump-off while Linky faulted on the first fence. Bedford had won two out of the three jumping classes, and placed fourth in the stake, while Miss Virginia won first in the stake and two seconds.

The combination working hunter championship went to Country Boy, owned by Jack Piersol, while Polly Gingrich's Miss Onyx was reserve. During the show half points were given for green classes and full points for regular working hunter events, to construct the combination championship. Miss Onyx hacked off a tie for reserve with Sydney Gadd's Rough Pastime. Young Gadd also starred in the children's division, for he won the hunter seat equitation class.

This year the YCHA discontinued its big four-day show for lack of a sponsor, and is holding 3 one-day shows instead. The July fourth event was the second in the series, and was held in the association's new ring east of York in a beautiful rural setting just off the Lincoln Highway.

Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds at the International Lions convention at Atlantic City.

Mrs. John B. Hannum, 3rd., M.F.H. of Mrs. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds, writes:

Our group is following the 165th Pennsylvania Lions Club Delegates at the International Lions convention at Atlantic City. James Regan, Kennel Huntsman and Whipper-in, is in the lead. Then comes behind me, Mr. James S. Kerr, Jr. (on the grey) as Acting Honorary Whipper-in, followed by Col. Howard C. Fair, regular Field Master to Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds.

It might be interesting to say that there were 22 members of the Field in the parade (not counting Segan and me). Five of these were children—one, Patty Grace, a member of the winning Cheshire Pony Club Team, was turned out on a side saddle and got quite an ovation.

By the time this picture was taken hounds were burned to a crisp from the heat of the sun's rays on the wooden boardwalk and stifling from lack of air down so close to the ground.

We only had 8½ couples on the boardwalk instead of the 11 we took down due to the following disaster—after unloading horses and hounds we had about 3 blocks to go to get on the ramp to be in line. Traversing these 3 blocks we had to stop for a red light. Marching past on the green light, but without playing any music, was a colossal Texas band all dressed in yellow uniforms. Just as they reached us all the drummers suddenly started playing with a tremendous roll and 2½ couples panicked. Separated by traffic and the rest of the Field, we had to go on to join the parade without these hounds. However, once on the boardwalk the 8½ couples of bitches still with us gave the crowd a lovely picture of a well-mannered pack, this despite three firecrackers thrown in their midst. We were truly proud of them.

J. F. B. about jennets caught my eye for the very good reason that I have always been confused with the problem of the jennet. The only satisfactory answer I have ever heard came from my very dear friend Marjorie McDonald, the well-known horse show judge who had to take to doggerel to enlighten me on this vast subject. Its so clever, and so clearly stated that I think many of your readers might also be further enlightened and certainly be amused.

Sincerely yours,

Night Time Racing in Great Britain

We have received inquiries regarding our opinion on evening racing in Great Britain. What has to be considered by those who run turf fixtures is — what does the majority of the present day public like and want? If there was no public paying at the entrance gates there would soon be no racing, no race-horses, trainers, jockeys, or owners. Hence, if the masses want evening racing — as they apparently do — it is up to executives to give their patrons what they demand. There will undoubtedly be more night-time sport, but only in the industrial areas in which the population is at work during the day. At courses situated in agricultural districts like Thirsk, Ripon, and Catterick, there will never be night racing.

As to horses being upset by the change of their routine, we heard the same theories when the starting-gate was first introduced. Horses soon became used to it. — J. F. B.

Coronette Debut Delayed

The filly, Coronette, by Citation out of Gallorette, was scheduled to make her debut July 30 in the 5½ furlong fifth race at Saratoga-by-the-Subway. Coronette is no Sophia Loren, being gawky like her dam. (If she can run like Gallorette, who cares how gawky she is). Unfortunately we shall have to wait a while before we see this royally bred filly race. She bucked her shins in the morning and got worse during the day so, of course, she was scratched. — R. J. C.

The Redcar program

Recently one of our friends over in John Bull's country sent us the most distinctive program of the Redcar races, Yorkshire, England. The back and front covers of this program features two handsome color reproductions of a field parading to the post and a finish of a race at Redcar.

However, the thing which attracted our attention was the feature of the day, The Cleveland Spring Handicap. Besides the usual information about each starter, age, breeding, weight, owner, trainer, rider etc. there is a little jockey done up in the colors and pattern of the owner's silks given right along side the Horse's name. This naturally helps the spectator to easily identify his horse in the race.

Brandywine Loses To Milwaukee Poloists

Bob Gallagher

A hard riding Milwaukee trio plastered the Brandywiners 9-4 last Wednesday night July 6th in the first game of a best of three series to be played on consecutive Wednesdays.

Philadelphia swamped Maule Farms 12-6 in the first game of the night to take the Arena League lead.

The West Chester Branch, Women's Auxiliary, of the Chester County Hospital shared in the proceeds of the games.

Ray Harrington, Brandywine's No. 2 man opened the night's scoring with a well executed off side backhand shot. Shortly after the Brandywiners were credited with another goal with the honors going to a pony. Milwaukee's Del Carroll decided to do something about his team's two goal deficit by macing one with a near side back shot from a right angle. George Oliver took a pass from Carroll and tapped one in to tie up the game before the chukker ended.

The second chukker was the big one of the night goal wise. Oliver broke the tie to put his Milwaukee club ahead. However the local combo went to work when Harrington took the ball from the sideboards, passed to Mc Hugh in front of the goal, who in turn tapped it in. It was here that Bob Uihlein scoring his lone goal of the game drove the ball in with a strong off side backhand shot to break the deadlock once again. Billy Mayer broke through the Milwaukee defense and found the mark with a difficult under the neck shot to give the scoreboard a 4-4 reading. Just before time ran out in the second period Carroll, taking advantage of a foul free shot with an undefended goal, split the uprights to give his team a slim 5-4 lead.

Defensively the third period was the most spectacular with each team pulling saves from the goal mouth. Carroll was the only one to break the barrier during the entire period.

The team work of Milwaukee in the final chukker was polo perfection with Carroll handling the three goals scored. However the Brandywiners played a commendable game considering Milwaukee had a combined goal rating of about five more than the local trio.

E. W. King and Norm Taylor paced the Philadelphia Polo Club in its 12-6 decision over Maule Farms with each chalking up five goals.

With the game only a few minutes old Jerry Powell became a victim of one of the worst spills ever taken at Brandywine. The No. 3 man for Phila. was on the ball and leaning out of the saddle to make a shot when an opponent, riding him off hard, apparently knocked his mount off balance. The pony pitched forward and in doing so tossed Powell over his head and underneath him. Miraculously enough Powell escaped with severe bruises, head lacerations and shock. He finished the chukker but was replaced for the remainder of the game by Dick Ellingsworth.

"Mo" Allred kicked off the night's scoring for Maule Farms with an under the neck shot set up by Albie Stewart. About a minute later Norm Taylor tied the score for Phila. on a pass from Powell. Within thirty seconds after play was resumed Taylor brought the ball all the way down the field amid some good ride offs by his team mates to break the tie. From there on out it was Phila. all the way with the Maule riders never once threatening.

"Frolie" Weymouth and "Mo" Allred divided scoring honors for Maule Farms with two goals each.

CCC Squad Bows To Texas Quartet, 6-5

Jack Cartusciello

A hard riding Texas Polo team led by Harry "Dutch" Evinger outlasted CCC of Detroit, Michigan in a Fourth of July Match Game at the Oak Brook Polo Club, Hinsdale, Illinois.

Evinger opened the scoring in the first chukker on a sixty-yard penalty shot while teaming up with Bobby Beveridge to keep CCC scoreless for the first two chukkers.

Evinger showed his eight-goal ability by scoring two in the second chukker.

Russell Firestone slipped by the Number Four to split the uprights for CCC's first counter, but a determined Evinger matched his goal to keep Texas in the lead by three goals.

The fourth period was a display of fine defense play on the part of Beveridge and Evinger for Texas, and Starks and Barry for CCC. Neither team scored.

In the fifth chukker Texas increased their lead with "Dutch" Evinger coming thru to score his fifth goal of the day. Pat Connors, playing the Number Two spot, scored on a pass from Bob Beveridge.

Clarence Starks added a score for CCC.

The sixth chukker saw CCC catch fire with three quick goals, two by Captain Don Beveridge, one by Clarence Starks. On the throw with seconds remaining, Harold Barry hit one of his drives to his Number One, Captain Beveridge. Beveridge took off toward the goal all alone with a tie in sight and on his last stroke of the ball, it was outside by one foot as the final bell sounded.

British Army Polo Tourney in Germany

Evelyn Prescott

June 26th of the Final of the Rhine Army Inter-Regimental Polo tournament was played between the 9th Queen's Own Royal Lancers and the 17th/21st Lancers at Bad-Lippspringe. Altogether seven teams were entered.

Playing for the 9th Lancers in the final were: No. 1 Lt. Diggle, No. 2 Maj. P. Thompson-Glover; No. 3, Lt. Col. A. Llewellyn-Palmer; Back, Capt. A. Motion. The 17th/21st Lancers, winners of last year's tournament were as follows: No. 1, Capt. G. Hedley, No. 2, Lt. A. Douglas-Nugent; No. 3, Lt. Col. D. Barbour; Back, 2nd/Lt. S. Walford.

Right up until the end of the last chukka it looked as if the 9th would have the game but Palmer's shot hit the goal post hard and bounced back and then Hedley narrowly missed, following a good run, just as the bell rang. With the score tied at 3, the captains agreed to play extra time under the old Indian

Polo Association rule of doubling the width of the goal (a method frequently employed today in New Zealand). This was designed to save the ponies, most of whom are club property. Amidst great excitement the 9th almost scored and then the 17/21st broke away with Hedley picking up a long hit from Barbour and driving it through the extended portion of the goal for a 4-3 victory.

Lady Gale, wife of the Commander in Chief, General Sir Richard Gale, presented the Cup to the 17/21st and momentoes to both teams.

An article in the London TIMES remarked that it was good to see the young forwards of both sides trained in the old Army tradition of marking their men and galloping all out to the very end.

As yet no civilian polo clubs have been revived in Germany though there is every indication this may take place very soon. The present lack of untrained ponies has created quite a problem for the British forces as few officers have sufficient time to train their own and the cost of bringing made ponies from England is prohibitive for young officers who might be transferred elsewhere at any moment.

Lt. Col. P. B. Sanger, Hon. Secretary of the Rhine Army Polo Club, tells us that many Hungarian ponies have been purchased from the stud at Levsteten (30 km. south of Munich). These ponies were originally brought from Hungary in 1945 by Prince Ludwig von Bayern and, having a lot of Arab blood in them, they are easy to train and make first class polo ponies.

This July the Rhine Army will be sending a low-goal team to the Aittel tournament (France) where they will compete against other military teams.

Brandywine Arena Scene Of High Scoring Games

Bob Gallagher

Polo action was fast, furious, and at its best in the Brandywine arena last Wednesday night, July, 13th. as Chadds Ford nipped Phila. in the opener 9-8, and Brandywine swamped Milwaukee 15-4 in the second game of a best of three series.

Each team had a lineup change over last week: Milwaukee used Bob Ackerman in place of George Oliver, while Brandywine's "Mo" Allred substituted for Jimmy McHugh.

Brandywine's scoring spree in the first chukker would have had an ill effect on any opposing club. Their strong threesome drove in seven goals during those first seven and one half minutes.

From the second chukker on the visitors tightened their defenses and gave the local club a fair amount of trouble. Del Carrol finally latched on to the ball and drove it in with a hard off side forehead shot. Before the chukker ended "Mo" Allred accounted for two goals, with Meyer contributing one. After the bell rang while the ball was still in play Milwaukee's Bob Uihlein posted one for his club. Mayer's lone goal in this chukker was the most spectacular score of the night. He drove the ball in a direct line straight for the goal from forty yards out and immediately took off for a follow up shot, but Carrol came abreast of him about thirty yards from the goal and there ensued one of the hardest ride offs ever seen at Brandywine. Mayer knew if he stayed on the line of the ball he could tap it in if it fell short, while Carrol felt if he could ride Mayer off a save at the mouth of the goal would be possible. Neither rider could budge the other one inch with the ball preceding them into the goal by a stride.

Milwaukee rode into the third period on the short end of a 10-3 score and before the game ended were able to add only one more goal, while the Brandywiners maced five during the same amount of time.

Chadds Ford victory over Phila. in an Arena League game placed them in a first place tie with the losers. Norm Taylor tapped one in for Chadds Ford to get the night's scoring underway. Then King countered for Phila. on a pass from Phillips to tie up the game. Within a minute Yetter drove through the Phila. defense to put the Forders out in front. Taylor maced another on a strong downfield pass from Mike Sassone. Philadelphia's Jerry Powell, completely recovered from a bad spill taken last week, took advantage of a hard near goal shot by Phillips and tapped it in. Just before the period was over

The First Royal Windsor Tournament

Evelyn Prescott

To be the first team to win the Royal Windsor Polo Cup, is naturally a great honour and after some preliminary rounds elsewhere, eight teams were still in the running.

The new fields in Windsor Great Park stood up remarkably well under the strain of a week's hard playing. The soil is sandy with gravel underneath so that in spite of heavy rain during the week-end before, not a single pony slipped up.

In the first semifinals, Ham, with a

Powell clicked again to tie up the game. Seven tallies were made in the second chukker including two pony goals one for each club. With forty five seconds remaining Phillips of the Philadelphia team came through with a well played under the neck shot to break the tie.

All scoring in the third period was done by Chadds Ford. Taylor pushed one in to tie the score and then added another to break the tie. Ed Yetter found the mark with an off side fore hand shot giving him credit for the winning goal as Phillips chalked one up for Phila. in the final chukker.

well-balanced and steadier side, defeated Windsor in spite of the valliant efforts of Col. Humphrey Guinness. Then Ratanada put out Cawdray Park in the second semi-finals, though the latter fought to the very end and the Hon. Mrs. Lakin (Lord Codrington's sister) made an especially good, hard-riding effort. This left Ham to battle it out with Ratanada in the final.

As Brigadier Jack Gannon, Hon. Secretary of the Hurlingham Polo Association, put it, writing for THE FIELD: "The standard of polo at 12-goals handicap, was as high as anything I have ever seen."

While this was going on, fourteen teams played on the no. 2 ground for the Smith's Lawn Cup, and Oxford took on Cambridge for their annual match. The favorites, Oxford, were winning comfortably till the half when an aged expert gave Cambridge some advice which worked so well that they had tied the score by the final chukka. Though the ponies were very tired for the sudden-death chukka, Oxford finally came through and had the honour of receiving the old cup (played for since 1878) from the Queen.

On Saturday, Queen Elizabeth attended the finals with King Hussein of Jordan and his Queen.

The first game for the Royal Windsor Gold Cup was a bit disappointing. Too many penalties caused partly by the ball not running truly on the new ground after so much play, and partly because Ham's spoiling tactics were their best chance of pulling it off. . . all contributed to making the game a bit slow. Ratanada's No. 2, Smith-Ryland, made the best run of the day which finished by a neat pass to Hill, No. 1, who put it through. In all of their games Ratanada seemed to have the better combination. The two forwards kept well up, shooting accurately at top speed while the Rao Rajah Hanut Singh, No. 3, and de Lisser (back) saw to it that they were well fed. The final earned them a much deserved 4-3 victory and the Rao Rajah Hanut Singh had the honor of receiving the Royal Windsor Gold Cup from the Queen.

The final for the Smith's Lawn Cup was more open and the Mariners, on which team the Duke of Edinburgh played No. 2 position, put up a gallant fight against the big guns of Woolmer's Park. With the score 4 all at the beginning of the second half (third chukka) they finally went down to a 7-5 defeat. The victorious Woolmer's Park team is the same which recently completed a successful tour of the Rome and Madrid Tournaments, with Lord Brecknock, No. 1; Kishen Singh, No. 2; Lalor, No. 3; L. A. Lucas, Back.

And so ended the first, and very successful Royal Windsor Tournament.

2,500 Fans Come Out For Arena Polo Debut in N. Y.

by Bill Briordy

Arena polo made its debut in New York on July 8 and drew 2,500 fans to the Huntington (L. I.) Club where a Meadow Brook trio edged the host side, 11-10, and West Hills trounced the Long Islanders, 14-6.

The contests, played in a caged-in area similar to an indoor layout, produced lots of excitement. Notable was the prolific scoring of young Joe Schwartz. He hammered in a dozen markers for West Hills in the first game of the twin bill.

Schwartz rode between Richard Gramer and Lev Miller. This trio was superbly mounted and after the first period had a clear advantage over the Long Islanders. With Walter Nichols setting the pace, the Long Islanders jumped to a 3-2 lead in the first 7½ minutes. But that was the last session in which the Abe Wagner-Nichols-Bob Stackler team was able to score more than a single goal.

As the second period got under way Schwartz slammed in the tying tally. Gramer hampered home one of his games' two goals and Schwartz came back with a pair to give West Hills a 6-4 lead at the midway mark. Thereafter it was no contest, West Hills getting five goals in the third quarter and three in the last.

The Meadow Brook-Huntington tussle was nip and tuck all the way. The squads emerged from the first session deadlocked at 3 goals each. In the second chapter Herb Pennell sparked the Meadow Brook side to another three tallies while the Huntington trio of Archie Young, Philip Iglehart and Vincent Rizzo was held to one.

The procedure was reversed after the half-time break. Huntington all but rode the Blues off the field, outscoring them 5-1 to go into the final session with a 9-7 margin. The issue was far from decided.

Meadowbrook's Charles Leonard, Pennell and Henry Lewis jumped to the attack and soon had the score tied at 9-9. It went to 10-10 before the referee was set to blow the final whistle. As the signal sounded, Pennell stroked the ball between the uprights for a game-winning goal.

Sunday's double-header at Bethpage, L. I., was sadly shortened when a pony had to be destroyed after a spill. Brookville downed Bethpage, 4-3, at Bethpage State Park but the second test was canceled in the third chukka when the mount of Wheatley Hills' Frank Rice broke a leg. At the time Rice's quartet led Bethpage, 2-0.

In the opener Bethpage got all its goals in the opening chukka of the four-period contest. Johnny Clements got two and Bill Hulbert one. Brookville came back gradually with a single goal in the second quarter and another lone tally in the third. Then, late in the final session, Art Norden stroked home the equalizer and Art Kaye followed with the deciding tally.

Norden and Kaye played No.'s 1 and 2 respectively with Steve Kaye at No. 3 and Fred Zeller back for Brookville. Gramer, Clements, Hulbert and Bill Stoothoof rode in that order for the Bethpage side.

Bob Ackerman's four goals at Blind Brook paced the home side to an 8-2 triumph over a Philadelphia quartet at Harrison, N. Y. The victory was the fourth in a row for Blind Brook.

After a scoreless first chukka the Blind Brook side went on the attack. Bill Crawford, George Haas, Ackerman and Bill Westerlund each walloped home a marker. That was enough to win with but the Philadelphia's Tommy Glynn countered with two goals in the third chukka. Blind Brook came back with three more as the second half started. The victors' added their final goal in the sixth period.

Mike Sassone, Richard Manigault and Norman Taylor rode with Glynn.

Virginians Win Easily Over Diplomats, 7-2

Joan Gibbons

I re and more Polo fans are finding their way to Barnsley Field in Olney, Maryland for the Wednesday night matches. The pleasant evening breezes are a welcome relief from the daytime heat. On July 6, the strong, Virginians triumphed over The Diplomats 7-2.

As usual, the brilliance of Porter King sparked the game as he scored three times for The Virginians, and held The Diplomats to two goals from his number four spot. He was backed up by fine playing from Frank Stalone, Commander George Kitteredge, and Buzz Rogers. Stalone played an unusually good game considering the fact that it was the first time he has played a complete game. He equalled King in scoring department as he also tallied three times. Buzz Rogers accounted for the remaining score for The Virginians. Jai Atal, from Jaipur, India, and Col. Nelson, from England, were the only Diplomats on the squad able to break into the scoring column. Nelson's goal was the only score in the first Chukka, and that period ended with The Diplomats in the lead, 1-0. They relinquished their lead, however, when Stalone scored with an assist by Rogers early in the second period. In the face of The Virginian onslaught, they were never able to threaten again. It wasn't until the final period that Atal was able to add the second and final tally for The Diplomats.

Farmington Polo Club Tops Giant Valley

C. W. Kellogg

The accent was on youth at the Farmington Valley (Conn.) polo field on July 17, but the veterans did most of the scoring.

Two prep school youngsters were in action—Frank Butterworth of The Westminster School and Wilfred Welch of The Groton School. Both bear names familiar to New England polo circles young Butterworth is the son of the Yale and Farmington polo associations head, and Welch is the fourth of four brothers to appear in action here.

Also in the line-up were Sandy Bowers, the University of Virginia player, and Harold Welch, just returned to Farmington polo after several years in Austria with the U. S. Military Government.

But it remained for the veteran Al Marenholz to provide most of the scoring punch. The Yale coach and Farmington mainstay knocked in four goals to give the host Blue a 6-2 victory over the Butterworths' Giant Valley quartet.

The weather continued to be blistering and periods were shortened accordingly.

In The Netherlands

Contrary to what is customary in England, Dutch young farming people do not do much riding in the field, the terrain being unsuitable. There are only two packs of hounds, that of the Royal Dutch Hunting Club and that of the Veluwe Hunt.

The Dutch rural equestrian is mainly interested in dressage. A rider is not allowed to participate in show jumping until he has given a good performance in a dressage test. In team dressage competitions a program is performed by four or eight riders at a time. At jumping shows—especially in respect to beginners—points are awarded for the performance of the rider as well as the horse.

Mention should be made of patrol jumping and jumping in groups of two or three riders side by side. Here union of riding and jumping of the riders belonged to one group or one patrol is judged. Another popular class consists of the so called "Klaverjerdrie" (triplet). This means judging of groups of three horses belonging to the same riding club and ridden abreast by three members of the club. The suitability and uniformity of horses and appointments are considered.

Rural equestrians are not allowed to use sharp spurs or to ride their horses on a curb. Abusing a riding whip is severely punished, as well as improper behaviour in public. In general within the clubs a rigid discipline is maintained, so that rural equestrian sports may teach not only horsemanship, but also character building.

During winter-time when riding in the "polders" of the Netherlands is practically impossible, members are taught horsemastership and acquainted with theory as to the art of riding and horse breeding. In summer excursions are held, or "strolls" (on horseback of course) in the surrounding countryside. Equestrian parties are very popular.

In a few years rural equestrian sports will form the only centres where knowledge of all sorts regarding horses may be gathered. For, motorization and mechanization are spreading more and more.

BOOKS

THE REMARKABLE MR. JEROME, by Anita Leslie, illus., pp. 312, Henry Holt, New York, $4.00. Reviewed by Raylton Fleming in Racing Review. Reprinted by special permission.

On the day that Winston Churchill was born, a racing friend of the family wrote, "Interesting breeding, stamina goes through the dam, and pace through the sire." Sir Winston's mother, from whom he inherited stamina in such abundance, was Jenny Jerome, an American, the second daughter of a Wall Street financier. It is about Sir Winston's American grandfather, The Remarkable Mr. Jerome as she calls him, and his family, that Anita Leslie has written her book.

In his lifetime Leonard Jerome made and lost three fortunes, practised as a lawyer, edited a newspaper, represented his country in the diplomatic service, took part in the first ocean yacht race, built a private opera house, acted as emissary to Bismarck during the Franco-Prussian war, discovered and encouraged the successor to Jenny Lind, and founded the American Jockey Club. The fifth son of a Syracuse farmer, he spent sixteen years under the puritan rule of his parents. Leonard Jerome's remaining sixty years were spent in denial of the principles his parents had tried to force down his throat as a boy. Only his unquestioned honesty would have pleased them. Mingling with the ruffians of Wall Street—which, incidentally he regarded with that distaste which only the very rich can afford to show for the source of their incomes—he stood out as a bastion of gentlemanly conduct. He was active on Wall Street during the great expansion of the United States railroads. At a time when fortunes were not uncommonly made and lost twice daily and any number of sharp practices were devised to influence the market, the worst that Wall Street ever said of Jerome was, "That damn fellow has cashed in on honesty."

Cash in he certainly did. When he arrived in New York there were nineteen acknowledged millionaires in America. Jerome lost no time in making the total twenty. He had the taste and inclination to spend his money, not wisely, but well. Sport, the arts and women all claimed their share. When, still in his early thirties, he returned to America after serving his country in the diplomatic service in Italy, he brought with him a collection of old masters, a court sword for the son he longed for, and a pair of Lippizaner stallions.

Not long afterwards he met August Belmont, who was then building the Rothschild fortune in America and who was to influence Jerome strongly. Belmont's chef, his collection of paintings and porcelain, and his trotters were the talk and envy of New York society. Jerome was determined to emulate and, if possible, to excel the Rothschilds' agent. In 1857, not for the first time, Jerome set his genius to work on Wall Street. Within a month he had struck it rich and had decided to invest in bloodstock. Jerome's wife, who did not share his new-found passion for the Turf, had been hoping for a new house. She had to wait. When eventually it was built, the stables were the first part of the house to be finished and occupied. In 1865 Leonard Jerome spent forty thousand dollars on Kentucky, at that time the best racehorse in the States. At the inaugural meeting at Saratoga Springs, Kentucky won the very first race run on the course. Not unnaturally, Jerome was entranced with racing.

Together with August Belmont and William Travers, he set about constructing a racecourse for New York City. A site was chosen near New York where the stands could be built on a natural hill, with every point of the track in full view. The course, named Jerome Park, was opened in September, 1866. The opening provided a brilliant social occasion, and to most people that would have assured its future success. To Jerome himself, however, there were other aspects of the racing that mattered a great deal more. He appreciated that the well-being of racing did not depend only on well-designed tracks and stands—not even on fast horses. Jerome feared for the future of American racing, because it had no tradition of government. Nor could it expect to find an example to follow in the City and State administrations. Men like Boss Tweed of Tammany Hall, Daniel Drew, and Jim Fisk controlled the City and the courts, and given the chance they would not have hesitated to acquire control of the racecourse too.

Jerome determined that they should not have the chance. He formed an American Jockey Club and convened its first meeting in his own offices. The Club declared as its aims. "To promote the improvement of horses, to elevate the public taste in sports of the turf, and to become an authority on racing matters in the country." Leonard Jerome then leased Jerome Park to the Jockey Club and offered to underwrite an annual loss of 25,000 dollars should it not pay its way. Jerome's own horses were never outstandingly successful. His blue and white stripes were the most respected silks in America, but he never had the pleasure of seeing them play a leading part in the sport to which he was so attached and which he guided so brilliantly.

Jerome's wife and their three daughters—there was no son—cared little for horses, yachts or any of the other things which were the ruling interests of Jerome's life. It was just as well they did not, for their time was spent at court in France and later, when the Prussians marched on Paris, in English society, resulting eventually in Jenny Jerome's brilliant marriage.

In America, Leonard Jerome's fortune dwindled and finally crashed. "At last, one evening," wrote one of Jerome's contemporaries, "while he was entertaining some friends at dinner, a telegram was brought to him which he opened, read and laid by the side of his plate. When the dinner was over he rose and asked pardon for the impoliteness of reading the telegram, 'but, gentlemen,' he continued, 'it is a message in which you are all interested. The bottom has fallen out of stocks and I am a ruined man. But your dinner is paid for and I did not want to disturb you while you were eating it.'"

Ruin is relative. It means one thing to one man, and something quite different to another. Leonard Jerome was not penniless, but he had lost his influence. He was able, not many months later, to give his daughter Jenny an allowance of six thousand pounds a year on her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill. Jerome spent his remaining days in clubs and on racecourses. In a last burst of energy he promoted the building of a new racecourse to replace Jerome Park, over which New York City was about to spread. He was a sick man when he sailed for England to join his family, and he died not long afterwards in a Brighton boarding house.

Jerome was a man who thought and lived largely. He had in him something of the stuff of greatness. No man did more to establish American racing on a high level, and it was perhaps from him that his grandson inherited that love of horseracing that has so delighted every sportsman in England.

forts. Dr. Fosbinder and A. E. James, Field Secretary of the THBA of NJ have been working closely with the other group in the hope of finding a common ground.

Harry J. Newcombe (Leslie Jane Stables) is completing arrangements with the Fasig-Tipton Company to disperse his entire Thoroughbred breeding stock at the fall sales.

The Return Engagement, a race designed exclusively for 2-year-olds who showed in the 1954 Yearling Show at Monmouth Park, was run Wednesday, July 20 at the Oceanport oval. Hi-Sag, winner of the New Jersey Futurity the week previously, came up a heavy favorite but as luck will have it he was soundly beaten in the stretch by David O. Evans' Free Advice. This was the second win for this locally-bred filly by Ramillies—Modest. The fourth race that day was won by J. J. Colando's Crystal Star, a son of Heather Broom from Chablis, foaled at Mairlands Farm, Scobeyville.

The feature race of the day was the $20,000-added Miss Woodford Stakes won by Woodland Farms' Blue Sparkler. Blue Sparkler who scored in four of her five starts as a 2-year-old was bred and raised at Amory L. Haskell's Middletown, N. J. farm which is under the direction of general manager Edward Feakes. She is trained by Harry Wells. Woodland Farm is having a most successful year for they have developed a second stakes contender in To Cash. Although they are racing a small string they have accounted for eight wins in New Jersey thus far this season.

Many Jerseyites are making plans to attend the Saratoga Sales and indications are that the purchases will far exceed the 11% of the total sales volume which New Jersey owners and breeders accounted for in 1954.

VIRGINIA FALL HUNT MEETING

The Virginia Fall race meeting to be held October 29th at The Glenwood Park Course, Middleburg, Va., is planning a full program of racing which include hurdle, brush, flat and one, possibly two, timber races.

MARRIED

Mrs. Helen Rumsey Cox of Dayton, Ohio was married at Radnor, Penna., on July 29, at the home of her brother Lee M. Rumsey Jr., to Thomas H. Bennett, of Lexington, Kentucky. The Bennetts will make their home in the "blue grass state."

PASS TESTS

Nine children in the Genesee Valley Pony Club passed the "C" test of horsemanship; the demonstrations were held at the Charlton Farm Pony Show on July 30. This was the first time many parents had seen such a test so the event did much to show the public just one of the things the pony club does. Those who passed the test were Elaine Knight (who had the fewest faults), Josie Buckley, Vivian Buck, Kay Riordan, Laurie Ann Sanders Sue Lockhart, Elizabeth Case, Tim Buckley, and John Chanler.

ARNOLD TRAVELING

Harry Arnold, former head of the defunct Derwood Mills, Maryland, announced while in Dallas, Texas that there is no basis in the rumor that he and his former associates in the Maryland concern, totally destroyed by fire some time ago, planned to resume operations in the Southwest. Arnold, who joined the sales forces of Quaker Oats company, when this organization assumed what was left of Derwood Mills after the disastrous fire, resigned his post some time ago. He has been in Southern California and Arizona, following his long time annual custom, and is now motoring back to Yuma, Arizona.

WELL-KNOWN PHILADELPHIAN

Mrs. William J. Clothier, one of Philadelphia's best known women, died on August 6 at her residence in Valley Forge, following a long illness. Mrs. Clothier was a member of the Pickering Hunt, which was founded by her husband, and was the owner of Pine Pep, three-time winner of the Maryland Hunt Cup, and an outstanding timber horse. She was the only woman member of the Pennsylvania Council of Defence and was named director of the National Women's Volunteer Port Security force under the United States Coast Guard.

POSTPONED

The annual Bellwood Hunt Club Horse Show, Pottstown, Penna., scheduled for Aug. 21, has been postponed. No future date has been set.

LICENCES FOR CHILDREN

The British Horse Society is greatly concerned by a recent prosecution which resulted in it being laid down that it is an offence under the Children and Young Persons Act for children above twelve and not having attained their fifteenth birthday to take part in any riding display without a licence, or in fact in any entertainment in connection with which a charge is made to the public. Further, no child under twelve is permitted to take part in such entertainment. There is no doubt that any Council can if they so wish take similar action to that taken by the L.C.C., and accordingly the Society has drafted a Bill which Lord Teynham has introduced into the House of Lords providing satisfactory amendments to the present law. The Society is hopeful that the passage of such a Bill through Parliament will be possible, and that it will provide a solution which everyone wants to find.

MILLBROOK ROUND TABLE JUNIOR DRAG HUNT

A new department in Millbrook hunting this summer is the drag hunt which will be held twice a week during the month of August. The drag pack is wholly separate from the Millbrook fox hounds, and will be run for, and staffed by juniors.

Hounds will meet Wednesdays and Saturdays at time and place specified on the fixture card which will be in the mails this week. While the drag hunt is specifically for junior members of the Pony Club, etc., adults afoot or ahorse are cordially invited.

Everyone is welcome, and it is the hope of the committee that the fields will be large. Mr. J. Arthur Reynolds has a number of horses available which may be had by arrangement.

The master of the drag pack is Miss Hopeton Kneeland. Whippersin are Yale Kneeland III, Peter Wray, Lee Davison and Pamela Byles. Anyone interested in learning further details may inquire of Miss Kneeland.

The fixture for August, all scheduled for 7:30 a. m., are: Sat., Aug. 13, Fraleigh Hill; Wednesday, Aug. 17, Mr. Charles Marshall's; Saturday, Aug. 20, Mr. Andrew Haight's; Wednesday, Aug. 24, Fitch's Corners; Saturday, Aug. 27, The Kennels; Wednesday, Aug. 31, Fraleigh Hill.

OPENING SESSION AT SARATOGA

The tradition-laden Saratoga Sales opened on Monday night, August 8 with 48 yearlings being sent through the ring for $400,000, averaging $8,333 — a decided increase over the 1954 average of $3,100 for 45 head.

Before a jam-packed gathering, five yearlings were sold for prices of $20,000 or better — Rolling Plains Stables' ch. c., by Polynesian-Skimmer, by Milkman was purchased by steeplechasing's F. Ambrose Clark for $25,000, the high of the evening. Runner-up for price honors was Battlefield's half brother, Jonabelle Stable's dk. b. c., by Stone Age-Dark Display by Display, which was bought for $24,000 by Wm. Post as agent, presumably for the account of Mrs. Oliver Iselin for whom he trains.

Old Westport Place and Laguna Seca Ranch's br. f., by Coldtown-Upper Boats, by Nearco went for $23,000 to R. O. Nuzum, agent. It was rumored Mr. Nuzum was acting on behalf of Mrs. A. A. Bigelow. The remaining two yearlings brought an even $20,000. The first of these was Rigan McKinney's br. c., by Menow-Selenga, by Jamestown, which was taken by W. L. Huntley, of Coral Gables, Florida, while the Kentucky-California combine of Old Westport Place and Laguna Seca Ranch received a similar amount for their b. c., by Polynesian-Ampola, by Pavot, from Lou Doherty, agent.

The Pin Oak Farm of J. S. Abercrombie of Houston, Texas and Mrs. Bernard Robinson of Versailles, Ky., were quite active in the bidding. Their first night's action resulted in the purchase of three colts — Old Westport Place and Laguna Seca Ranch's b. c., by Roman-Grand League by Grand Slam for $12,000; Newstead Farm's b. c., by Bimelech-Imprint, by War Relic for $9,500; and Jonabelle Stables agent's br. c., by Shut Out-Maid-oduntreath by Man o'War for $15,000.

Mr. F. A. Clarke also bought another yearling in addition to the top priced individual — a br. c., by War Relic-Poule d'Eau by Bimelech, consigned by Jonabelle Stables for $18,000.

Eugene Mori, president of Hialeah, Garden State and Tanforan was the high bidder for two yearlings in the opening session — Old Westport Place and Laguna Seca Ranch's b. c., by Revoked-Flying Lee by Pennant for $9,000 and Rigan McKinney's ch. c., by Olympia-Rancor by *Mahmoud for $5,500.

Judging from the first night's action Saratoga is off to do just what the Keeneland Sales did two weeks ago — establish new records!

Sandra Shaw, who were having a lesson. The two Shaw girls with a friend, Helen Rhinelander, and their parents were on their way to Galway and Connemara on a fishing trip.

When this was being written Iris Winthrop was negotiating to purchase an Irish show jumper, named P. P. This promising young horse has a great reputation as a hunter in County Meath, and should do well in working hunter and jumping classes for the young lady if she succeeds in her efforts to buy him.

amount of paraphernalia with which they are harnessed is invariably surprising to a flat racing fan. We wondered why the standard bred had no trouble in racing at least 2 (and sometimes 3) heats of a mile each in the course of an afternoon, whereas no trainer of Thoroughbreds would agree to such a thing. Our conclusion was that the legs of the trotter and pacer are not subjected to the terrific impact resulting from the speed of the runner plus the weight of the jockey. The harness horses don't travel nearly as fast and the impact is more evenly divided between the four legs, not concentrated on the front legs as in the runner.

Among the fox hunters present we noticed a delegated from The Rombout Hunt, Richmond Meyer, M. F. H. and Mrs. Meyer; William Kay, Hon. Huntsman and Mrs. Kay; and Mrs. Warren Kershaw; Hon. Secretary. Also A. MacKay-Smith, M. F. H., Blue Ridge Hunt and Mrs. MacKay-Smith (Jean Bowman).

Scott Frost trotted the second fastest Hambletonian in history in the second heat—2:00 $\frac{3}{4}$ —being surpassed only by his sire Hoot Mon who travelled the distance in 2:00 flat. Frosty might have caught up with the old man if he hadn't been boxed for most of the trip. The horse was even more impressive in the first heat, trotted in slower time. In consequence he had a lot in reserve at the finish. When Joe O'Brien really let him roll at the finish we got one of the thrills of a lifetime as he flashed out of the pack like a jet plane—his tremendous stride and power making the others seem stationary. What a horse!

U. S. QUARANTINE

It will interest those U. S. polo players wishing to take their ponies to Mexico next winter, to know that, whether or not the U. S. Department of Agriculture removes the quarantine for the "undiagnosed" disease purported to exist in Mexico City, the dangers of catching this mysterious disease do not appear to be great. None of the seventeen U. S. horses which went to the Pan-American games developed it then or during their quarantine and all were cleared to return to their homes. At a later date, two horses did come down with a fever, incapacitating them for some time, however, it was never diagnosed as anything other than shipping fever and it did not spread. The Veterinary officer from the U. S. Army who accompanied the team, submitted a report to the Department of Agriculture on his observations and it is hoped by all concerned that said Department will see fit to remove their quarantine in the near future. In the meantime, Mexico's Department of Agriculture is also doing its utmost to persuade the U. S. Department of Agriculture to lift the quarantine.

class, he was also the then 16-year-old Claire Miller's mount in her Maclay preliminary win.

At the Sutton, Ontario, Canada show in 1954, the course was a stiff one and in the morning Claire and Mooney went out to school. Neither of them had ever seen or negotiated a Helsinki Bank which is a big mount with a ramp going up better than six feet high to a flat top. The horse is supposed to run up the ramp, turn left, and jump down to one level, turn again, and jump out into the field. Claire and "Mooney" approaching the bank, ran up the ramp, and Claire, not realizing they should turn, headed "Mooney" out into space. Nothing daunted, and with complete confidence in each other, they soared through the air, landed safely, and continued with the school. No one was the worse for the experience except Claire's father who had watched her run up the bank and then launch off into space!

This year at the Buffalo International Horse Show he retired a challenge trophy for working hunters as he was champion for the third consecutive time. He was also champion working hunter at Devon, not reserve champion as incorrectly stated in the Chronicle's report of the show.

HAMBLETONIAN IMPRESSIONS

It's been over 30 years since we went to Goshen's Historic Track. There's a new grand stand and the elm trees are bigger, but the general scene still recalls the Currier and Ives Era. Informality and hot weather prevailed; E. Roland Harriman (uncle of the proprietors of Rolling Plains Stable, Saratoga consignors) made the presentation minus coat. Perhaps it's imagination, but the standard-breds seem smaller than they used to. Apparently they are becoming intensively in bred. Even on the very hot day which was August 3rd the horses had quarter sheets over their loins in the stalls. Of course the extraordinary
